PRESIDENT TO PLEAD FOR ECONOMY

About 20,000,000 Persons To Hear Coolidge In Talk On Cutting Expenses

By R. S. THORNBURGH
For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—With a record of having cut expenditures more than $2,000,000,000 since 1921, the administration will make preparations tonight to once more go to bat with the high cost of government.

President Coolidge, will probably get 20,000,000 persons within ear shot, as the result of a radio hook-up, and will make a plea for expense cutting during the two years beginning July 1. He will address the semi-annual meeting of the government's business organization, consisting of department chiefs.

A $3,000,000,000 a year government, exclusive of postal operating costs, has been the objective of the administration since the budget system went into effect during the term of the late President Harding.

For Tax Reduction
The government will come close to this mark in the year ending June 30, expenses totaling $3,445,000,000. For the new year it is hoped to come a step closer to the objective.

The economy program aimed specifically at tax reduction, was stimulated today by information from the treasury that the excess of receipts over expenditures has already passed the $170,000,000 mark. This surplus will be increased considerably in the remaining seven collection days of the year.

Unexpected Collections
The heavy surplus, first estimated at but $67,000,000, has resulted from unexpected collections under the 1924 revenue act. The collections are within a few million dollars of the estimated $1,660,000,000 with heavy receipts anticipated before June 30.

Receipts from all sources before the year ending June 30 will be approximately $3,675,000,000, officials said. It was announced the following stations would broadcast the message: WCAP, Washington; WPAF, New York; WJAR, Providence; WEEI, Boston; WOO, Philadelphia; WSAI, Cincinnati and WOC, Davenport, Iowa.

GERM CASE STAR SCORED ON STAND

State's Leading Witness Is Denounced By Expert At Shepherd Trial

CHICAGO, June 22.—Charles C. Faiman—the reincarnation of Baron Munchausen—this was the characterization of the state's star witness in his case against William D. Shepherd given from the witness stand in criminal court here today by Dr. Charles E. M. Fischer, expert biologist, by whom Faiman formerly was employed.

Dr. Fischer's denunciation of Faiman came in answer to a direct question of William Stewart, chief of defense counsel, after the doctor had played havoc with the state's case with uplandish declarations that the murder of William Nelson McClintock by typhoid germs obtained, propagated and administered, as the prosecution claims those said to have been given McClintock, would be a biological impossibility.

Nurse Testifies
A bombshell was tossed into the state's case against Shepherd when Miss Mabel Anna McClintock, the first nurse called in to attend Billy, testified it was she who objected to Miss Isabella Pope, McClintock's fiancée, being allowed in the sickroom.

Her statement followed hot on the heels of her testimony that before the diagnosis of McClintock's condition was made, Billy told her that he thought he had typhoid.

"He said he had been eating oysters," she testified.

Anti-Foreign Riot Scene

Anti-foreign feeling is running high in Chinese cities, and at Hong Kong, a British protectorate, authorities are holding coolie rioters in check with difficulty. The photo shows Hong Kong harbor.

Situation More Menacing As Strike Spreads; Business Continues Paralyzed

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON, June 22.—Fearing riotous outbreaks, two-thirds of the American women and children in Canton have fled to Hong Kong and other safe places, Consul-General Jenkins cabled the state department today.

HONG KONG, June 22.—A state of emergency was declared by the Hong Kong government today in view of the spread of the anti-foreign strike to the South China cities of Hong Kong and Canton. Export of flour from this city is forbidden.

The strike continues, with banks and shops closed and with public utilities paralyzed. The situation became more menacing here today when delivery coolies of the dairy farms joined the walkout, endangering fresh food supplies for the foreign settlement and native quarters. Government control of food and fuel, as well as vehicles for distribution of supplies, was inaugurated when the authorities issued a proclamation today placing emergency regulations in effect.

Chinese Students May Be Deported For Legation Raid

PARIS, June 22.—Chinese Communist students may face deportation as a result of the raid on the Chinese legation, the French foreign office indicated today.

One Chinese was arrested when police interrupted the disturbance at the legation. A hundred of the students had raided the place, imprisoned the janitor and forced the Chinese minister to sign documents affirming sympathy for the Chinese strikers in South China.

Manchurian Leaders Plan To Take Action On Strike

SHANGHAI, June 22.—Indications today were that leaders of the Manchurian forces in the Shanghai area would take drastic action to break up the anti-foreign strike that has paralyzed this city for several weeks.

Manifestos were issued throughout the Chinese settlement announcing that the Manchurians would execute those attempting to create further disorders.

SAFE IS MISSING

OLYMPIA, Wash., June 22.—The Piggy-Wiggly store of Olympia opened for business today to find that thieves had removed a safe containing $1800 over the weekend. No trace of the safe has been found.

SENATOR LADD SUMMONED BY DEATH

North Dakota Solon Dies After Being Stricken While En Route Home

BALTIMORE, June 22.—Senator Edwin F. Ladd of North Dakota, died at the Church Home and Infirmary here today after a short illness with a complication of kidney trouble and neuritis. He was 65 years old.

Ladd became ill last Friday at Cleveland, Ohio, while motoring to his home city in North Dakota to deliver a number of speeches. He came back to Washington, but decided to go to Baltimore to submit to medical treatment.

Becomes Serious
His condition became serious Saturday evening but improvement was noted Sunday. There was a decided change for the worse this morning and at 10:20 a. m. the senator died.

It was announced that Ladd's body would be taken to Washington tomorrow or Wednesday. The widow had not decided today whether interment would be made in North Dakota or at Ladd's old home in Maine.

In the death of Senator Ladd the third party, stunned by the death last week of its founder and standard bearer, Senator Robert M. La Follette, has received another crushing blow. Senator Ladd was one of the staunchest supporters of the third party movement and was prominently identified with it from the time of its inception.

Born in Maine
Born in Starke, Maine, on December 13, 1859, Ladd received his education in the public schools there, in Somerset academy, Athens, Maine, and in the University of Maine from which he received the degree of bachelor of science in 1884 and the degree of doctor of laws in 1915.

Through his early study of chemistry, Ladd became interested in the application of the science to the needs of agriculture. In 1884, he was appointed chemist of the New York state experiment station at Geneva, N. Y., holding his post until 1890, when he became professor of chemistry at the North Dakota agricultural college and chemist of the experiment station at Fargo, N. D., where he made his home. He held the latter position up to the time of his election to the Senate, November 2, 1920.

Kills Her Sweetheart, Girl Gets Long Term

NEW YORK, June 22.—Dorothy Perkins, 16-year-old telephone operator, convicted of the murder of her sweetheart, Thos. Templeton, must serve from five to fifteen years in the women's state prison at Auburn. This was the sentence handed down by Judge McIntyre in general sessions today. Templeton was shot after a party at Dorothy's home last February.

Refuses Doctors' Aid

"I don't want to live," Grant told doctors who worked on him through Sunday and last night. "Why should I get well to let them hang me? It's better for me to die this way than at the end of the hemp."

He refused a blood transfusion. During the early morning hours it appeared as if he might recover. Then at daylight there was a relapse.

Heroic French Officer Blows Up Own Fort

PARIS, June 22.—Spurred by patriotism, Lieutenant Lapeyre of the French forces of Morocco, blew up a French outpost at Beni Derkol rather than have it fall into the hands of the attacking Rifians, according to a dispatch today from Fez to the newspaper Intransigent. There were twenty-two men in the outpost. There was no mention of their fate.

TELL SALES METHODS

LOS ANGELES, June 22.—Government witnesses giving testimony as to sales methods of the concern were introduced in federal court today when the trial of officers of the Valhalla Memorial Park Co. was resumed. The men are charged with using the mails to defraud in an alleged $600,000 fraud.

Coolidge Romance Denied

Rumors of budding romance between JOHN COOLIDGE, only son of the president, and FLORENCE TRUMBULL, daughter of the governor of Connecticut, are denied by Florence's mother. The pair met during inauguration ceremonies last March.

RUM RUNNERS IN DUEL WITH POLICE

Many Shots Are Exchanged And Officers Capture Quantity of Liquor

SALINAS, Cal., June 22.—More than 100 shots were exchanged between a posse headed by Sheriff W. A. Oyer of Salinas county and the crew of a rum running launch early today at Pebble Landing, near the exclusive Pebble Beach lodge, when the officer surprised the rum smugglers in landing a huge cargo of contraband liquor.

None of the land forces was wounded but it was believed that one or more men aboard the high speed launch were wounded before they gave up the battle and fled. The officers captured two truck loads of liquor and five automobiles also laden with booze. The captured rum is believed to have come from British Columbia.

Three men were arrested. They gave their names as C. McCarty, C. Goldman and Thomas Murphy, all of San Francisco.

SUSPECT MURDER

LOS ANGELES, June 22.—With a man's bloodstained straw hat, a handkerchief and a tassel from a woman's coat as the clues, police today sought to track down a possible murder mystery, following the finding of the articles in the rear of a house in the heart of Los Angeles. Previously Mrs. Rose Gubanyi reported to police she heard a terrific struggle near the spot where the clues were discovered.

OMITS HONG KONG

MANILA, June 22.—The Admiral-Oriental liner President McKinley, sailing for Seattle, will omit Hong Kong as a port of call on account of the anti-foreign strike, it was announced here today.

CARTOONIST IS HONORED

HUSKIES LOSE ANNUAL ROW FOR TITLE ON HUDSON

Great Crowd Is Present At Four-Mile Contest By Seven Universities

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 22.—Putting up a valiant fight, the Washington Huskies lost the annual four-mile boat race here to the Navy in the last 300 yards after leading for three miles. The Navy went into the lead shortly after passing the three mile post and was not headed.

Washington finished just a short distance behind the Middies, after terrific rowing during the last mile to overtake the Navy. Wisconsin finished in third place. The victory for the Navy broke the long winning streak of Washington.

The race started at 7:10 o'clock, having been delayed by choppy water. Penn took the lead at the start, but soon gave way to the Middies. At the end of the first mile Washington pulled out in front, and at the two-mile post the Huskies were leading by one length. Rowing crews from seven universities participated in the race.

Huskies' Juniors Win
Washington university's crews got off to a flying start today when the Huskies' junior varsity swept to victory in the opening race of the intercollegiate regatta on the Hudson this afternoon. Cornell was second, Penn third, Syracuse fourth. The unofficial time for the two-mile course was 10 minutes 2 seconds.

Approaching the bridge, which is the first mile mark, the freshman race was a stiff fight, with the first three crews close. Cornell was leading about three-quarters of a length, with Columbia second, Penn third, Washington fourth. They remained in the same position going under the bridge.

The westerners won in a rousing finish. Columbia was a bad fifth. Washington's time was announced as 10:26; Cornell's as 10:31.

Syracuse Frosh Wins
The freshman race was off to a perfect start. In the stretch Syracuse went into the lead. Penn was second, Columbia third, Cornell fourth and Wisconsin fifth. Syracuse repeated Washington's trick of coming from behind in the freshman race, the Orange pulling ahead of Penn in the final mile to win the yearling event by one and three-quarter lengths. The winner's time was announced as 9:58.

Coach May Change
"Rusty" Callow, coach of the University of Washington crew, will shift his activities to the University of Pennsylvania in 1927, according to one of the several reports freely heard before this afternoon's championship boat race on the Hudson. Callow, it was said, would replace Jim Rice, whose resignation at Pennsylvania was to take effect after the race. Just who was to take hold of Pennsylvania before Callow's alleged transfer in 1927, seemed to be Penn's problem.

President of Stanford Hits Superstitions and Dogmas

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., June 22.—Eight hundred students were graduated from Stanford university today.

They heard their president, Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, deliver an open attack on superstitions, hodgepodes, dogmas, folklore and old wives' tales.

"They are blinders," President Wilbur said, "put on us by others for us, to keep us from seeing in all directions."

"To put on such blinders is a favorite way the old have for bringing up the young. It is easier to teach a prejudice than to urge fairness."

"It is easier to beat a drum or squirt the blood of a blackcat killed in the dark of the moon on a sick man than it is to use the microscope and the test tube in studying him.

"It is easier to pull down the shades of new and disquieting light than to face it unafraid."

Sons of two cabinet officers were among those to receive degrees.

Herbert C. Hoover, Jr., received an S. B. in mining engineering. He plans to go to Harvard for graduate work.

Paul Curtis Wilbur, son of Secretary of the Navy Wilbur, received an advanced degree in chemical engineering.

ATTACKS BAN ON BIBLE IN SCHOOL

Writer Asserts State Law
Violates Constitution
Of United States

Editor The Evening News:
Which is of greater interest to Californians, the decision as to the constitutionality of the law forbidding the teaching of evolution in the schools of Tennessee or the court's decision that the law of California forbids the reading of the Bible in the public schools of this state?

As parents and as guardians and financial supporters of the public schools of this state, are we fully conscious of the conditions that do actually exist?

When questioned as to what he thought of the law as it is on the statutes of this state, regarding the reading of the Bible in the public schools, a father, who seems to be a very earnest Christian and a liberal supporter of the church, in its various departments and above all things seems determined to bring his children up in the "faith," declared, "Why, there is no state in the union more liberal in regard to the use of the Bible in our schools than California!"

Should Be Read

When told the supreme court had decided it was illegal even to read the Bible in our schools, he looked dumfounded and declared that such could not be the case.

He was told if he doubted it, to turn to The Glendale Evening
News of June 19, 1925, editorial page, and look under the heading,
"Reading the Bible."

The article referred to in the News should be clipped and pasted on the front cover page of the movie program, which adorns the front porch or clogs the mail box —or on the society page—or somewhere that it would be constantly before us, till we all realize where we are.

What was the base upon which the constitution of the United States was founded? Why did the Pilgrims come to America? Is the constitution of California not founded upon the same base, and as a member of the union, what of our obligation to support the constitution of all the states?

States Grant Credits
"No other state has such a law."
Not only is the Bible read in the school of other states, but "within the past eight years thirty-seven of the forty-eight states have come to grant credits in high schools for Bible study, either in or out, to say nothing of the legal right to simply read the Bible in the school room."

We hear of the so-called big guns rushing to help those who want to teach evolution in the schools of Tennessee and have the law that forbids it, declared unconstitutional.

We don't hear of any rush this way, to help loosen the barnacles on our state.

DR. HARRY ST. CLAIR,
206 North Louise.

East Reads Praise Of California Conditions

Salvador, well known Glendale resident and property owner, of 324 West Colorado street,
has brought to The Glendale Evening News office a copy of the Fergus Falls Daily Journal of Fergus Falls, Minn., containing a letter from Charles W. Wilson, a Minnesotan who is now living in Los Angeles, praising California.

"This is one time," said Mr.
Desky, "when a favorable letter was sent east about California."
In the letter Wilson says, "This is my twenty-fourth year in sunny California and each year I like it better. I can't help being a good booster for California as there are so many pleasures to be derived from living here, both physical and profitable. We have had a lovely winter and spring and are now enjoying pleasant summer weather. Business is good."

WORTHINGTON UNABLE TO TRAVEL

'Wolf Of La Salle Street' At Punta Banda, Mexican
Mud Bath Resort

John W. Worthington, "Wolf of La Salle street," whose spectacular flight from the Glendale Sanitarium to Punta Banda, Lower California, started a nationwide search, will not be brought back soon to the United States to serve a prison sentence for misuse of the mails, according to word reaching Glendale today.

Worthington's physical condition is such that he can not be moved for several months, it is said.

Worthington left the Glendale Sanitarium ten days ago after he had been there several months undergoing treatment, while enjoying a stay of execution on a prison sentence imposed by the federal courts in Chicago. He sought and obtained the stay of execution on a plea of ill-health.

A week ago Wednesday his daughter called at the sanitarium and took him for a ride. He did not return and the search started. He was traced to Mexico and a few days ago located at Punta Banda, a resort located at Ensenada, Lower California, where he is taking hot mud baths.

Physicians at the Mexican resort report that Worthington is in a critical condition, for, in addition to being practically paralyzed from the hips down, he is said to be suffering from another disease. Several indictments have been brought against Worthington in the Los Angeles courts, charging fraud.

ATWATER RESIDENTS WILL PROTEST LEVY

Creation of Assessments for Electric Lights and Sidewalks Not Favored
By Taxpayers of District

Spreading of an assessment district over a wide area adjacent to Los Feliz boulevard for the improvement of that thoroughfare with new pavement, sidewalks, sewers and electric lights, will be protested by Atwater property owners.

Tax payers of the district are said to favor the assessment district plan for paving of the street but not for the installation of sidewalks and lights, maintaining that these latter improvements will benefit only the property immediately abutting Los Feliz boulevard and have no influencing effect several or more blocks away.

They will carry their objections before the Los Angeles City Council when the improvement of Los Feliz road comes before that body for final action, it was declared today.

The controversy is similar to protests raised in other portions of the city, it was stated at the city engineer's office, where the Board of Public Works has ruled that any major improvement of a main artery of travel, including sidewalks and electric lights, can rightfully be assessed against the district instead of against the abutting property alone.

Police Continue Drive

Los Angeles motorcycle police continued their drive against offending motorists who used the wrong side of Glendale boulevard traveling on the left hand side of the street, last night and today. No change in the original order issued from police headquarters to arrest all violators has been issued.

sued, motor officers declared. They are under strict instructions to break up the habit of driving on the left hand side of the boulevard and will continue their drive indefinitely they stated. Action of the Atwater Improvement association in the traffic war is expected tonight.

Personals From District

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Crozier, formerly of Hollywood will move to Atwater Park on or about July 1 and will occupy their new home at 3109 Garden avenue recently purchased from P. J. McConville. Mr. Crozier is an officer in the Citizens Trust & Savings bank in Los Angeles. They have many friends in the Atwater district.

Barney Kenefall, Atwater builder is back after a short eastern trip and will commence the erection of several new Atwater homes shortly.

Association Meets Tonight

A large attendance of residents is expected when the Atwater Improvement association meets tonight at the Neighborhood Christian church, 3852 Edenhurst avenue. The program of activity for the year as outlined by executive officers of the association will be presented at the meeting.

ORGANIZATION WOMEN RALLY HEADS AND FOR PARTY CONCERT MEETING

D. H. Smith, Rev. Edmonds
And C. J. Hatz Endorse
Musical Series

Representing the civic activities, Glendale merchants and religious organizations of the city, D. H. Smith, president of the Chamber of Commerce; C. J. Hatz, president of the Merchants' association; and Rev. W. E. Edmonds, president of the Glendale Ministerial association, have written Mrs. Mattison Boyd Jones, president of the Glendale Music club, in commendation of efforts to bring to Glendale next season the brilliant concert series.

From Mr. Smith comes the following statement: "This is certainly a movement in the right direction in bringing big musicians to Glendale. Glendale ought to have her winter series and be as successful as Hollywood's summer series. This city of over 60,000 can certainly furnish 800 subscribers at $5.00 each for the season tickets offering seven supreme events, with such artists as Bosticher, Lashanska, Matzenauer, Samarooff and others. These artists will undoubtedly draw people from the entire valley."

Spanish Opera
"Ballester, the great Metropolitan baritone in operatic and old Spanish folk songs, is quite a fitting finale of our Spanish fiesta spirit in September. Matzenauer, the world's greatest contralto, in February, will surely draw a packed house. All in all the series as planned will be a credit to Glendale, and every citizen should avail himself or herself of this fine opportunity, which is being brought to them at such a nominal cost."

"The fact that these singers, who are allowed only a limited time away from the Metropolitan Opera Company, can be secured to give their time to Glendale should be a matter of civic pride."

"I feel a great debt of appreciation is due to the ladies of the Glendale Music Club for getting such programs here in Glendale. I enjoyed the programs last year, and feel that everyone in Glendale ought to be interested in these concerts," says Mr. Hatz.

Ministers Praise
"It gives me very great pleasure to add my little word regarding the musical club with which you have been connected for so many years," says Rev. Edmonds. "My attention has been called to the program for the coming season. I am not only speaking for myself, but for the pastors connected with the Glendale Ministerial association who on various occasions have expressed themselves as in hearty cooperation with the work of the club."

"If there is anything that I can do to further its usefulness in our community, or, if there is any matter that we can lay before our various congregations, I am sure we shall be glad to assist in the fullest measure."

LAY CORNERSTONE OF NEW BAPTIST CHURCH

Solemn Ceremony Marks Event Attended
By Members of Congregation and Friends on Sunday Afternoon

Standing as a monument of progress and development in the history of the First Baptist church, the cornerstone of the new building, now being erected at North Louise street and East Wilson avenue, was laid yesterday afternoon with solemn ceremony, witnessed by more than 500 church members and friends.

The event was of special significance to the pastor, Rev. Ernest E. Ford, heralding as it did the approach of the sixth anniversary of his coming to the pastorate. Among those attending the service were J. M. Banger and Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Martin, charter members of the church, who recalled the organization of the church, the purchase of the church site in 1904 for $450 and the building of the first edifice at a cost of $3500. It is their happiness to see rise on this same site the new church building.

Dr. Harper Speaks
The address yesterday was given by Dr. W. F. Harper, executive secretary of the Southern California Baptist convention. With eloquence he spoke to the pastor and church members of the material and spiritual meanings of laying the cornerstone. Rev. J. F. Gasser gave the invocation; Rev. Ernest E. Ford led the responsive reading, and Rev. W. E. Edmonds, president of the Ministerial association, gave fraternal greetings. J. Ray Bentley, chairman of the building committee, presented Mr. Ford with a silver trowel, and Mr. Banker, chairman of the board of trustees, presented Mr. Ford with a mallet, to use in placing the stone. Charles Cressey, architect, assisted. Later Mr. Ford presented the trowel and mallet to Mr. Bentley to be placed in the church archives.

KIWANIAN DELEGATES AT CONVENTION CITY

California-Nevada Special Train Pulls
Into St. Paul Seven Hours Ahead
Of Time; Meet Opens Tonight

By MERRILL D. DAVIS
Of The Evening News Staff.
ST. PAUL, June 22.—The Glendale delegation and the California-Nevada convention special reached this city at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, seven hours ahead of schedule. The delegates received a royal welcome and ovation from the St. Paul Kiwanis club and after an automobile tour of the city were taken to the Radisson hotel on Minneapolis.

There were no accidents nor anything to mar the trip from the coast to the convention city. Great credit for the trip is due Kiwanian Charles Cobb, of Pasadena, traveling passenger agent for the Santa Fe, who accompanied the special train.

At the opening of the Kiwanis International convention here tonight President Frank Fox, Dr. T. C. Young and Delegates A. L. Baird and M. D. Davis, of the Glendale Kiwanis club, will attend the "All Kiwanis Night" program, while St. Paul and Minneapolis Kiwanians observe a somewhat similar affair. The synchronized "Zero Hour," when all clubs in the United States and Canada, simultaneously with the convention hour, pay an impressive silent tribute to the ever-strengthening friendship and fellowship of Kiwanis.

The "Zero Hour" period lasts fifteen minutes, and includes the "Fellowship Moment of Silence," the singing of "America" and "God Save the King," the reading of the message of Victor M. Johnson, of Rockford, Ill., president of Kiwanis International, and the "Onward Kiwanis" song.

Meet At Eagle Rock
Club members of the third zone will gather at Eagle Rock this afternoon at 5:40 o'clock to participate in the "Zero Hour" program while the convention delegates here are opening the convention.

The Eagle Rock meeting will be held at the Masonic temple, and Glendale Kiwanians have sent word to President Fox they will attend the zone meeting in a body.

With the business of the convention opening tomorrow, President Frank Fox, and both the local delegates will be busy attending sessions devoted to reports by international committees dealing with education, business standards, inter-club relations, and the underprivileged child, all major projects of Kiwanis.

Reception Tuesday
Tuesday night the annual president's reception and ball will be held at the Radisson hotel.

DEATH'S TOLL OF AUTOISTS IS HEAVY

Three Killed, Eight Injured,
Two Fatally, In Mishaps
On Sunday Rides

LOS ANGELES, June 22.—Three dead, two probably fatally injured, and six badly injured is Sunday's toll of automobile accidents in this vicinity.

Edward Deeter was driver of the car which yesterday killed Miss Pauline Graham of 747 South Union street. Mary Trabbis of 448 South Lake street and Daniel Ashcroft, 1556 North Western avenue, passengers in the other car, were seriously injured in the crash. Deeter claims the accelerator of his car became caught and that he was unable to slow up while rounding "Death Curve" on Ventura boulevard, near Laurel canyon, where the fatality occurred. Deeter may be held on a charge of manslaughter. Rounding the curve, his car turned over four times, crashing into a second car.

A motorcycle on which William Sickler and Harold Lloyd of the Southgate police department, were riding, was struck by an automobile yesterday. Sickler was killed and Lloyd badly injured. The accident occurred near Carter, about thirty miles north of San Diego. Sickler leaves a widow and child who reside at Villaca, Iowa, and is believed to have relatives residing in Hollywood.

Mother In Victim
In an automobile collision near Long Beach, Mrs. Guy M. Small of Hynes was killed and her son Richard, age 3, probably fatally hurt. The baby is in Seaside hospital with a fractured skull. A second child in the car was uninjured. R. F. Whitson of 224 Seal Beach was driving the car which collided with one driven by A. A. Newsome, of 1424 Chestnut avenue, Long Beach.

Miss Dorothy Whitaker of Chicago arrived in Los Angeles yesterday afternoon. She was met at the station by her sister, Mrs. Louise Fitzhugh, and brother-in-law, G. B. Fitzhugh of 216 Whitely street. All three were injured in an automobile crash while on their way from the station. Miss Whitaker being seriously hurt. The accident was at Third street and Central avenue.

All-white daffodils, five inches in diameter, attracted attention at London's recent flower show.

THE FIRST ROWS OF SUMMER!

Pursuing the Dawn

By DR. FRANK CRANE

A man could start and follow the dawn westward. After it had gone he could run fast, hoping to catch it again. But he will save time and trouble if he will just stand still. Within twenty-four hours the dawn would come back to him.

Much pleasure that we chase we could get much more quickly by standing still and waiting till it comes back.

There are misguided youths who leave school in order to make money. It is commendable to want to earn your own living and get off other people's backs. It is a commendation devotedly to be wished by everyone. But it can be done too quick. It is better to get all possible preparation before we do it.

Those who quit school in their teens because somebody makes them or circumstances compel them are indeed unfortunate. Those who quit because they want to are just plain fools.

There is such a thing as chasing fame unduly. Fame should be the shadow of what we are. The darkness of the shadow depends upon the solidity of the person. If we seek fame directly and follow after it, it is like a man chasing his shadow. But if we stand still and attend to our own business, fame comes at the proper time.

There are those who seek popularity when it would be better to devote all one's energies to being worth something, and popularity would come of itself.

A saying of Emerson's is that if a man makes a better rat trap than anybody else, the world will find the path to his door.

Lincoln's advice to one seeking the presidency was that he should devote all his energies to making himself worthy to be president. Whether he would be chosen president or not was largely a matter of luck and circumstance.

In religion there are many people who seek its advantages by seeking direct experience. They go to the mourners' bench or to mass searching for that joy that is only the reflection of deeds well done. The efforts of religion are not to be had directly, but indirectly. We are to devote our energies to thinking, speaking and doing what is right. When we have done this there comes a glow of self-satisfaction that can only come from deeds well done. This is the best kind of religious experience.

Those who are chasing health directly are sitting on the front porch of sanitariums. The real healthy people are those out in the playground and in the street who never give a thought to their physical condition. The dawn comes to them.

In the same way there is a good deal of bunk about the various systems of mental training. Those who go in for training their minds usually become one-sided. Those who are busy working their minds at some valuable task get their training indirectly.

The Best of Advice

By CLARK KINNAIRD

Emerson calls history the action and reaction of nature and thought; two boys pushing each other on the curbstone of the pavement.

"Everything is a pusher or a puller," and mind are in perpetual tilt and balance. "Whilst the man is weak, the earth takes up him. He plants his brains and affections. By the will he will take up the earth, and have his gardens and vineyards in the beautiful order and productiveness of his thought."

"Every solid in the universe is ready to become fluid on the approach of the mind, and the power to flux it is the measure of the mind."

"If the wall remain adamant, it accuses the want of thought. To that subtle force it will stream into new forms, expressive of character of the mind."

What is our city but an aggregate of incongruous materials which have obeyed the will of some man?

The granite was reluctant, but his hands were stronger, and it came. The iron was deep in the ground and well combined with stone, but it could not hide from his blast furnaces.

Wood, lime, copper, rubber, food, were dispersed over the earth and sea, in vain. Here they are, within reach of every man's day-labor,—what he wants of them.

"The whole world is the flux of matter over the wires of thought to the poles or points where it would build," Emerson opines.

Certain ideas are in the air. We are all impressionable, but some more than others. The truth is in the air, and the most impressionable brain will announce it first, but all will announce it first, but all will announce it a few minutes later. Thus we have the curious contemporaneousness of inventions and discoveries.

Therefore, the great man, that is the man most imbued with the spirit of the time, is the most impressionable man.

Who's Who

The man just appointed solicitor general of the United States by President Coolidge resigned a commission during the World war to serve as a private.

He is William D. Mitchell of St. Paul.

When the World war started he was made a colonel of the Sixth Infantry, Minnesota national guard. He resigned this post to enlist as a private in the field artillery, whence he served to the end of the war.

Mitchell, a former law partner of Associate Justice Pierce Butler of the supreme court, succeeds James M. Beck, whose resignation was announced several weeks ago.

Mitchell was recommended by William Brooks, Republican national committeeman, and by Senator Schall, Republican, of Minnesota. He is expected to take office immediately. Beck's resignation was presented to be effective when a successor was chosen. He expressed a desire, however, to remain in office until the end of the supreme court session next Monday, as Beck has left Washington for a trip to Europe.

Mitchell is listed as a Republican, but has shown a degree of independence, having supported some Democratic nominees. He has never before held public office, although he once was counselor for Governor Burnquist of Minnesota.

10 Years Ago

K. K. Kelly, fruit grower of the corner of North Adams street, was given a birthday party last night.

The stranger, who comes into Glendale is of the opinion that the men engaged in business and the professions in this city have been residents of this section of California for many years, when the facts of the case are that the large majority of them have not resided in Glendale more than six years.

Dr. T. C. Young, osteopath physician, 570 West Broadway, came to Glendale from Winterset, Ia., about six years ago.

The unlimited expanse of space over our heads.

"There is no question whatsoever in my mind but that serious efforts will be made immediately to inaugurate some sort of a widespread aviation service, and whenever a well organized and dependable air service is available the American Railway Express Co. is prepared to co-operate with it and offer this expedited transportation service to the public. The benefits we know will accrue urge us on to this action, for, in my opinion, no great new enterprise revolutionizing existing methods ever loomed up so large or with such practical benefits as commercial aviation."

AN ADVENTURE IN FAITH

Peace is an adventure in faith, according to Ambassador Houghton. The same may be said of life, but it should be more than that. Too much faith in others is sometimes as disastrous as too little, as many have found to their sorrow. One who has had his faith violated and his illusions shattered, is likely to become suspicious of everyone. It is right to assume, in the small things as well as in the larger relations of life, that your rights will be recognized and guarded by others, but it is well to be prepared to protect yourself, at the same time. It is no indication of strength of character to let others take advantage of you and run over you. "Look out for No. 1" may seem a mean and petty maxim but in a world where others have adopted it we are compelled to do so. And nations have the same characteristics as the people who comprise them.

VALUE OF A TREE

"A tree is worth $5,000 to any community," says Major Richard F. Burgess of the Texas Forestry commission. Texas is a state that is without trees in many sections and has recklessly cut away trees in others. It is easy to estimate the value of a thing after we have lost it.

But a tree in Glendale, California, is just as valuable as one in Texas, and we should think twice before we allow a tree to be destroyed. Not only that, but we should keep on planting them all the time. Every lawn and back yard should have its trees, every parkway and every country drive should be lined with them and where the mountain growth is thin or has been destroyed by fire, it should be renewed.

THE YOUTH MOVEMENT

To spread the aims and ideals of the German youth movement among the young men and women of all lands and nationalities, Benno Jacob, a 21-year-old German boy is walking around the world. In this country he is conferring with the Y. M. C. A., the Boy Scouts and other organizations made up of the younger generation. The movement which he represents has for its purpose normal living, permanent universal peace and the unification of Europe under a united government.

The older generation has been somewhat of a failure, but there is hope for the world if the young of all lands can get together on these questions.

One thing seems to be pretty certain, and that is that Europe had better not start another war with the expectation of borrowing from us the money with which to pay for it.

We often wonder whether the contractor who built the Leaning Tower of Pisa made it that way on purpose or whether it was a government job.

The Soviet insists there is no such country as Russia, a theory advanced from time to time in the past by Secretary of State Hughes.

Today's Poem

GO, LOVELY ROSE—
Go, lovely Rose—
Tell her that wastes her time and me,
That now she knows,
When I resemble her to thee,
How sweet and fair she seems to be.

Tell her that's young,
And shuns to have her graces
spied,
That hadst thine sprung
In deserts where no men abide,
Thou must have uncommended died.

Small is the worth
Of beauty from the light retired:
Bid her come forth,
Suffer herself to be desired,
And not blush so to be admired.

Then die—that she
The common fate of all things
rare
May reap in thee;
How small a part of time they share
That are so wondrous sweet and fair.

"When commercial aviation is once well established," Robert E. M. Cowie, president of the American Railway Express Co., said recently, "there will be no such thing as isolation in this country. Furthermore, commercial aviation is not a vision for future generations; it is a live issue of the present moment."

"When Henry Ford listened to the whirr of the propeller on the all-metal plane which made its first trip a short time ago, carrying Ford parts from Detroit to Chicago, he witnessed as great a revolution in the transportation progress of the country as was ever brought about by railroad train or automobile. For this trip was in no sense a demonstration; it was a great progressive scheme for more rapid transportation, accomplished by a man who has been a leader in seeing visions which he invariably brings into reality."

"I think I am safe in saying that within the year we will be using the air commercially for many practical purposes. "Flying is not a fantasy of Jules Verne, nor a war emergency measure. It is a practical engineering feat which will commercialize for transportation purposes

Community Pride Supports Community Enterprises

Pride in our own is a perfectly natural emotion. An outstanding reason for Glendale's growth is the pride of her citizens in her. Years ago Glendale was proud of her beautiful location and her splendid natural advantages but today her pride is in something more than scenery.

Glendale has grown to be a real city, progressive and influential. Her commercial side has developed rapidly in the past few years and the pride of Glendaleans in their city now extends to her rapidly rising and widening skyline, her extraordinarily attractive business sections, her wide-awake business men and women.

A city's standing and importance are usually judged by its commercial activity. There must be trading or buying and selling wherever human beings congregate. And the further people are advanced in the niceties of living the better organized and more complicated their commercial life.

The real test of pride is in its results. If we are really proud of Glendale and the remarkable strides the city has made in the way of growth in population and in commercial activity, we will give our support to the merchants who are maintaining the business end of the proposition.

A live and growing community must have fine stores. You would not be proud of Glendale if the merchants kept small and ill-assorted stocks in dark dirty rooms and were out of date in their methods of serving you. And it is obvious that the better their patronage the finer their places of business will be. The business men of Glendale want to do their part in making the city one of which we may all be proud. Do your part by giving them your patronage.

Diet and Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

HEALTHY REMEDIES
I am afraid in my articles on Peaches I did not emphasize sufficiently the dangers of the habitual use of headache powders and drinks.

They are dangerous because they are all heart depressants. When a severe headache is experienced the absorptive powers of the stomach are lessened and sometimes when repeated doses are taken they may be absorbed later as one does and this may be very harmful if not fatal.

A woman having a headache took a dose of a favorite effervescent headache drink (the name of which gives no indication that it contains acetanilid) which gave no relief. She then took a dose of some headache tablets, the active ingredient of which was also acetanilid, and she died one hour later from heart failure, due to the depressing action of the drugs. This case was reported in the American Medical Association Journal. Many similar cases have been reported.

Some severe skin eruptions can also develop from the habitual taking of certain popular headache medicines. Here's a report of a case also written up in the A. M. A. Journal:

A man aged 40, began two years ago to take a certain well known remedy for headaches. The patient was of a nervous type and owing to the sedative effect of the remedy he took it quite regularly, not knowing that it would prove to be injurious or harmful. He acquired the habit of taking the drug and as usually happens it required increasing doses to relieve the headaches and satisfy the patient. The usual dose was at least one-half ounce taken daily, and the patient stated that at times he took several doses a day. Within a few weeks after he began taking the drug, he developed a pustular eruption on the face, arms, chest and legs. In addition to the generalized eruption, he had a bluish cyanotic pallor characteristic of acetanilid poisoning, which condition was really much more important than the eruption. You can see from these cases that you must not get into the habit of taking drinks or tablets or powders for headaches or other conditions.

What are you going to do for immediate relief if you have a headache? Are there no home measures that you can employ? Yes, I'll give you some, but before I do that, I'll repeat that a headache is not a disease but a symptom of some disorder elsewhere in the body—eyes, ears, nose, throat, intestinal tract, pelvic organs, blood, etc.—and you should have a physical examination to determine the cause of your trouble, stirrings often. Add one cupful of sliced raw (peeled) onions and let continue to fry mildly for five minutes longer. Now add three cups of boiling water, cover the pot, and let simmer one hour, stirring now and

No matter what the cause of the headache may be there is very apt to be stagnation in the intestinal tract accompanying it. Even though you have not eaten for sometime there may be remnants of fermenting food in the stomach. So evacuating the stomach will bring relief.

You can cause vomiting without taking an emetic, by putting your finger in the back of your throat and keeping it there (i. e. u. have to be persistent) until reversed peristalsis is induced. Better take one or two glasses of warm water first. There are some conditions such as high blood pressure in which the straining accompanying vomiting may be dangerous, so in these cases the stomach should be washed out by a physician.

Hot applications to the spine, and cold or hot applications to the head, depending upon which seems to be soothing can be used. Sometimes cold applications around the neck and at the top of the head, and hot applications to the face and ears will cause a change in the circulation so that the congestion in the head is relieved. If the headache is due to anemia, then the hot applications to the head would be indicated.

Hot foot and leg baths may be effective in "drawing off" the blood from the head. Needless to say, the air in the room should be fresh and cool. Oftentimes a walk in the fresh air is of more benefit than all other measures. It is not wise to eat anything until after the intestinal tract has been cleared out and the headache has abated, unless, of course, the headache is caused by not eating, and then a simple meal will probably relieve it.

Aspirin is probably the least depressing and the least harmful of headache tablets, but even these should not be taken indiscriminately.

Tomatoes—Fallen Arches.

At Jackson Home

One of the prettiest weddings of the June bridal season in Glendale was that of Miss Velma A. Woodruff of 1260 Western avenue, and A. Byron Armstrong of Glendale, which took place Saturday night, June 20, 1923, at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. D. Ripley Jackson, 1544 Virginia avenue. Rev. C. M. Calderwood, pastor of First Congregational church, performed the single ring ceremony. The Jackson home was transformed for the occasion into a garden scene, gladioli, shasta daisies, dahlias and carnations being intermingled with greenery for decorations. A canopy of shasta daisies with a background of flowers in massed effect decorated the living room, where the ceremony was performed. Flowers in baskets and vases were used in profusion throughout the home.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, chose a wedding dress of white georgette with beaded design. She wore a bandeau of orange blossoms for head-dress and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

Miss Ethel Coddington, of Eagle Rock, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a white embroidered dress over pink satin and carried an arm bouquet of pink sweetpeas. Kenneth Jackson, cousin of the bride, served as best man. Mrs. Thomas Smith of Glendale, played the "Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin," as the bride party entered the room. During the evening she played other bridal music.

After the ceremony a reception was held, and later buffet refreshments were served. A large wedding cake was decorated with rosebuds and doves.

Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong left later for a honeymoon trip to Yosemite National Park and San Francisco. They will return to Glendale to make their home at 1260 Western avenue. Mrs. Armstrong is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Woodruff. The family came to Glendale six months ago from West Orange, New Jersey. Mr. Armstrong is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Byron Armstrong, Sr., of Springfield, Mass. He came to Glendale from New York city five months ago. He is employed as accountant at the Los Angeles office of Lybrand, Ross Bros. & Montgomery.

Morning Wedding

In the Little Church of the Flowers, Forest Lawn Memorial Park, yesterday morning, Sunday, June 21, 1923 at 10 o'clock, the wedding of Miss DanaLee Norris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William LeRoy Norris of 2717 Dailton avenue, Los Angeles, and Leland Alfred Storch, of Los Angeles, son of Mrs. Johanna M. Storch, of Santa Rosa, took place. Rev. W. E. Edmonds, pastor of Glendale Presbyterian church, performed the ceremony. Miss Eleanor Wheeler sang "Oh, Promise Me" preceding the ceremony, with Miss Wila Wagner as accompanist. An interesting feature is that Miss Wheeler will be married in the same church July 19. Miss Wagner played the wedding march. The bride wore a blonde lace dress over shell pink satin, pink picture hat and pink satin slippers. She carried a shower bouquet of butterfly and Cecil Brunner roses. Mrs. Kenneth P. Norris was matron of honor. ### SCALP MASSAGE

Dorothea H.: There are some people whose hair will stand being bleached without any apparent

There are hundreds, perhaps more, varieties of scalp treatments. One well known kind is as follows:

You sit comfortably back in an arm-chair and the attendant lets down your hair—if you happen to have hair long enough to let down—and gets out a cup, a long, very stiff bristle brush, a bottle of tonic, three to six brushes, and two combs. She pours the cup half full of tonic, wets a small brush, parts the hair and rubs on the tonic; she parts the hair again and again rubs on the tonic, until the scalp is covered. The stiffness of the bristles and the brushing work the liquid thoroughly into the scalp.

Then the attendant runs her fingers through the hair and works the scalp back and forth to "loosen" the skin. Then she massages the back of the neck and the spine as far as she can reach, well below the shoulders. This brings the blood up to the head. Then she takes the finest of fine tooth combs and goes over the scalp, working loose all dandruff or scurf. Then she begins to brush. You may think your hair is thoroughly brushed if you spend ten minutes or so on it; you've never had a brushing like this. Every bit of dandruff, loosened from the scalp, is brushed out, oil, dust, etcetera; as a result the scalp glows, the hair looks alive.

The attendant goes on brushing. Personally, I am ready to stop the treatment long before she is. Some times she brushes until the scalp is quite tender to the touch, but whether that is good for it or not I never could make out. The treatment takes three-quarters of an hour, half a hour of which is given over to brushing. It does make the hair grow and look glossy and healthy.

A Constant Reader—Massage the muscles of your legs with a deep motion much like kneading, and use cocoa butter to assist in nourishing the tissues under the skin.

The HOUSE Of The ARROW

A SERIAL STORY WRITTEN BY A. E. W. MASON
Protected By The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

All those in the bedroom waited for the answer in suspense. Francine Rolland, indeed, with her eyes fixed upon Hanaud in a very agony of doubt. And the answer came.

"Yes, but whoever whispered, whispered twice this afternoon. On the night when I came down in the dark to the treasure room, the words were only whispered once."

"It was the same voice which whispered them twice, Made-moiselle?"

"Yes... I think so... I noticed no difference... Yes... And Hanaud flung out his arms with a comic gesture of despair, and addressed the room."

"You understand now my little experiment. A voice that whispers! How shall one tell it from another voice that whispers! There is no intonation, no depth, no lightness. There is not even sex in a voice which whispers. We have no clue, no, not the slightest to the identity of the person who whispered. That will do now, on the night when Madame Harlowe died." He waived his hand towards Monsieur Bex. "I will be glad if you will open now these cupboards, and Made-moiselle Harlowe will tell us, to the best of her knowledge, whether anything has been taken or anything disturbed."

Hanaud returned to the treasure room, leaving Monsieur Bex and Betty at their work, with the commissaire and his secretary to supervise them. Jim Frohisher followed him. He was very far from believing that Hanaud had truthfully explained the intention of his experiment. The impossibility of identifying a voice which whispers! Here was something with which Hanaud must have been familiar from a hundred cases! No, that interpretation would certainly not work. There was quite another true reason for this melodramatic little scene which he had staged. He was following Hanaud in the hope of finding out that reason, when he heard him speaking in a low voice, and he stopped inside the dressing room close to the communicating door where he could hear every word and yet not be seen himself.

"Mademoiselle," Hanaud was saying to Ann Upcott, "there is something about this clock here which troubles you."

"Yes—of course it's nonsense... I must be wrong... For here is the cabinet, and on it stands the clock."

Jim could gather from the two voices that they were both standing together close to the marquetry cabinet.

"Yes, yes," Hanaud urged. "Still you are troubled."

There was a moment's silence. Jim could imagine the girl looking from the clock to the door by which she had stood, and back again from the door to the clock.

Surely that scene in the bedroom had been staged to extort some admission from Ann Upcott of the falsity of her story. Was he now, since the experiment had failed, resorting to another trick, setting a fresh trap?

"Well?" he asked insistently. "Why are you troubled?"

"It seems to me," Ann replied in a voice of doubt, "that the clock is lower now than it was. Of course it can't be... and I had only one swift glimpse of it... Yet my recollection is so vivid—the room standing out revealed in the moment of bright light, and then vanishing into darkness again... Yes, the clock seemed to me to be placed higher... and suddenly she stopped as if a warning hand had been laid upon her arm. Would she resume? Jim was still wondering when suddenly, like a swift animal, Hanaud was in the doorway and confronting him.

"Yes, Monsieur Frohisher," he said with an odd note of relief in his voice, "we shall have to enlist you in the surety very soon. That I can see. Come in!"

He took Jim by the arm and led him into the room.

"As for that matter of the clock, Mademoiselle, the light goes up and goes out—it would have been a marvel if you had within that flash of vision seen every detail precisely true. No, there is nothing there!" He flung himself into a chair and sat for a little while silent in an attitude of dejection.

"You said this morning to me, Monsieur, that I had nothing to go upon, that I was guessing here, and guessing there, stirring up old troubles which had better be left quietly in their graves, and at the end discovering nothing. Upon my word, I believe you are right! My little experiment! Was there ever a failure more abject?" Hanaud sat up alertly.

"What is the matter?" he asked.

Jim Frohisher had had a brain wave. The utter disappointment upon Hanaud's face and in his attitude had enlightened him. Yes, his experiment had failed. For it was aimed at Francine Rolland. He had summoned her without warning, he had bidden her upon the instant to act a scene, nay, to take the chief part in it, in the hope that it would work upon her and break her down to a confession of guilt. He suspected Ann. Well, then, Ann must have had an accomplice—there was the object of the experiment. And it had failed abjectly, as Hanaud himself confessed. Francine had shrunk from the ordeal, no doubt, but the reason of the shrinking was manifest—fear of the police, suspicion of a trap, the furtive helplessness of the ignorant. She had not delivered herself into Hanaud's toils. But not a word of this conjecture did Jim reveal to Hanaud. To his question what was the matter, he answered simply:

"Nothing."

Hanaud beat with the palms of his hands upon the arms of his chair.

"Nothing, eh? nothing! That's the only answer in this case. To every question! To every search! Nothing, nothing, nothing; and as he ended in a sinking voice, a startled cry rang out in the bedroom."

"Betty!" Ann exclaimed.

Hanaud threw off his dejection like an overcoat. Jim fancied that he was out of his chair and across the dressing room before the sound of the cry had ceased.

Certainly Betty could not have moved. She was standing in front of the dressing-table, looking down at a big jewel case of dark blue morocco leather, and she was lifting up and down the open lid of it with an expression of utter incredulity.

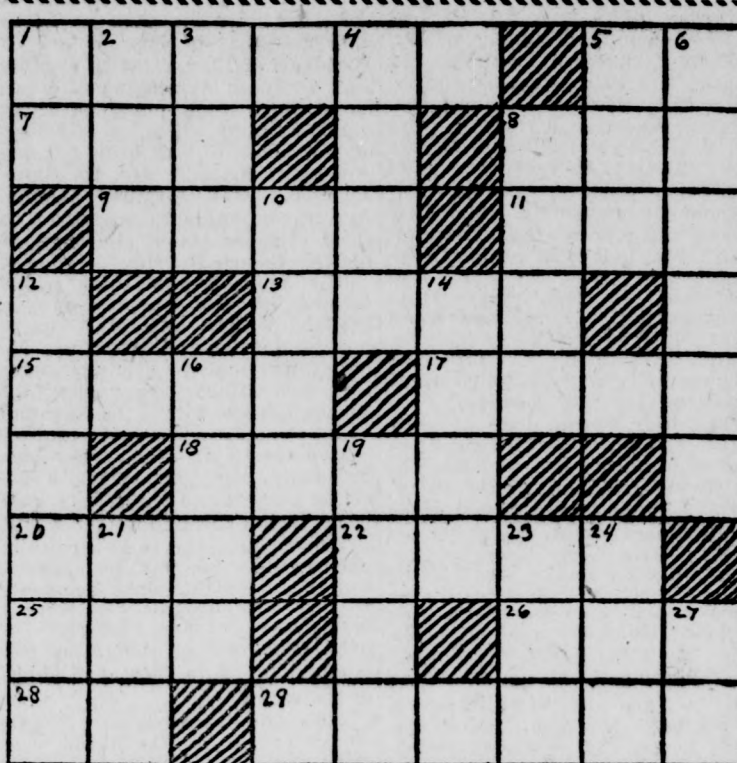

"Aha!" said Hanaud. "It is unlocked. We have something, after all, Monsieur Frohisher. Here is a jewel case unlocked, and jewel cases do not unlock themselves. It was here?"

He looked towards the cupboard in the wall, of which the door stood open.

"Yes," said Betty. "I opened the door, and took the case out

HOW TO SOLVE THE CROSS WORD PUZZLE
The way to solve the Cross Word Puzzle is to fill in the white squares of the diagram with the words which agree with the accompanying definitions. The definitions are numbered to correspond with the numbers on the diagram.

Any word defined in the text under "HORIZONTAL" will begin at its number, shown on the diagram, and will extend all the way across to the first black space to the right of that number. That is, the word must begin in the square that contains its identifying number, and extend as far as the white squares continue uninterrupted.

Any word defined under "VERTICAL" will also begin in the white space that contains its number, but will extend downward as far as the white squares remain uninterrupted.

"Will you look through it, please, and see whether anything is missing?"

While Betty began to examine the contents of the jewel case, Hanaud went to Francine, who stood apart. He took her by the arm and led her to the door.

"I am sorry if I frightened you, Francine," he said. "But, after all, we are not such alarming people, the police, eh? No, so long as good little maids hold their good little tongues, we can be very good friends. Of course, if there is chatter, little Francine, and that good looking baker's boy is tomorrow spreading over Dijon the story of Hanaud's little experiment, Hanaud will know where to look for the chatters."

"Monsieur, I shall not say one word," cried Francine.

"And how wise that will be, little Francine!" Hanaud rejoined in a horribly smooth and silky voice. "For Hanaud can be the wickedest of wicked Uncles to naughty little chatters. Ohoho, yes! He seizes them tight—so—and it will be ever so long before he says to them 'That—will—do—now!'"

He rounded off his threats with a quite friendly laugh and gently pushed Francine Rolland from the room. Then he returned to Betty, who had lifted the tray out of the box and was opening some smaller cases which had been lying at the bottom. The light danced upon pendant and bracelet, buckle and ring, but Betty still searched.

"You miss something, Made-moiselle?"

"Yes."

"It was, after all, certain that you would," Hanaud continued. "If murders are committed, there will be some reason. I will even venture to guess that the jewel which you miss is of great value."

"It is," Betty admitted. "But I expect it has only been mislaid. No doubt we shall find it some where, tucked away in a drawer."

"Yes."

UNCLE WIGGILY

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE OLD TIN CAN

Uncle Wiggily was hopping over the green field near the brook one morning, twinkling his pink nose and wondering what sort of an adventure he would have when, all of a sudden, the rabbit gentleman heard a voice asking:

"Please take us with you?"

At first Uncle Wiggily was going to hide down behind some bushes, for he said to himself:

"This may be some of the bad chaps!" But then he happened to think that if it was the Fox or Wolf they would have talked differently. "They would have wanted me to come with them instead of wanting to come with me," said the bunny to himself. And when he peered over the top of the bush he saw Scooter and Tooter, two of his new little rabbit boys. They were holding their ears and looking around with their bright eyes. They were wondering where their new daddy had vanished to so suddenly.

Uncle Wiggily laughed, popped up and cried:

"It's all right, boys! Here I am. I hid because when I heard your voices I thought you were some of the bad chaps. But how does it happen that you aren't in school?" he asked.

"It's examination time, and we did our lessons, so the lady mouse teacher let us out of the hollow stump school early," said Tooter.

"And will you please take us adventuring with you?" begged Scooter. So Uncle Wiggily took them by their paws and went skipping and hopping across the field. They had not gone far before they saw an old tin can lying on some stones near the brook.

"Oh, look at the old tin can!" cried Scooter.

"Let's kick it and bang it with sticks!" said his brother. And then, to the surprise of all of them, the old, rusty tin can spoke and said:

"That's right! Kick me! Bang me with sticks! Push me into the brook if you like. I'm no good any more. I am of no use in this world! Go on! Kick me!"

But Tooter and Scooter were too surprised to do this, and Uncle Wiggily said to the tin can:

"You shouldn't talk that way. Everything and everybody is of some use in this world, if we could only find it out."

"Will you please tell me what use I am?" begged the tin can.

"Once I was useful, I know, for I was bright and shiny and filled with lovely sliced peaches. And around me was pasted a cover bright red and yellow in color. But after I was opened and the peaches eaten, I was thrown out here. The rain washed off my cover. I began to rust and now see what I am—of no use at all!"

"Yes, you are useful!" suddenly cried Tooter. "I know what can be done with you!"

"What can be done with me?" sadly asked the old tin can.

"I can scoop water up in you and throw it in the face of the Bob Cat!" shouted Tooter. And as truly as I am telling you, while Uncle Wiggily was talking to the tin can, up sneaked the Bob Cat who wanted to nibble the bunny's ears.

But the little rabbit boy took the tin can, filled it with water and dashed the water in the face of the creeping Bob Cat.

"Oh, wowie, scowzie scoop!" howled the bad chap and away he ran.

"There!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "You see how useful you are, Mr. Tin Can! You saved my ears, and I thank you, and also Tooter."

"Well, perhaps I was of a little use," admitted the tin can. "But I am so homely—all bent and rusted!"

"I'll take you home, straighten you out, paint you red and plant some flowers in you after I fill you with earth," said Scooter. And that's just what he did. And in a few days there was the tin can, rusty no longer, but redly painted, hanging on the front porch of the hollow stump bungalow, and in the can grew some green trailing vines and bright blue flowers.

"Ah, now I am happy!" sang the tin can. "I am both useful and ornamental!" And truly he was. So if the apple dumpling doesn't try to be a baseball and run home in the rain, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Weezie's trick.

Residents of Wing street and in the vicinity of Porter street have been losing their pets lately, four dogs and four cats having been reported dead during the past few days. J. C. Alphonso Wiggins who resides at 417 Wing street reported that meat balls containing poison had been thrown in the yards and people in that locality were fearful lest their small children pick them up and eat them instead of the animals. Three of the animals reported dead, were pedigreed. Wiggins stated that although their cat had not been poisoned he was interested in making an effort to see that his neighbors' pets were unharmed.

CARETAKER DEAD
LOS ANGELES, June 22.—Philip Dilda, caretaker at the suburban property of Mrs. Anne Boyer, said to be a sister of James J. Jeffries, former world's heavyweight champion, was found dead in a cabin at the Boyer place. Dilda was believed to have died of natural causes.

UNCLE WIGGILY'S TRICKS---Giving Him the Air

MANAGER FIGHTS, ONCE IS ENOUGH

Boxer Plants Flowers All Over Trainer When They Try Public Exhibit

Is there such a thing as an exhibition in boxing?

Jack Hurley, manager of Russ Le Roy, who will box Mushy Callahan Tuesday night at Vernon, says not. He cites as an instance an experience he had with Le Roy. Hurley has managed, taught, directed and guided Le Roy from the very start of his boxing career.

"I had Le Roy matched to box at Jamestown once," says Hurley. "When we arrived for the fight the promoter told us our opponent had not showed up and that he was stuck. Up in that country there are only a few boxers available on short notice. It is different than it is out here in California."

"We had a talk with the promoter. He suggested that I go on and box Le Roy to save the fight. I already. The tickets were sold and everything. So we agreed on this. I took the name of Jack Doyle and was supposed to be a substitute from the east. But I promised that I would do my best to whip my own fighter."

Stood It Two Rounds

"We started off. I told Le Roy not to hit me in the body because I wasn't trained. He said he wouldn't. I went along for a couple of rounds all right, then I got tired. I always keep in pretty good shape for a manager, but training to be a manager is different from training to be a fighter."

"Le Roy started hitting me in the body. I saw that I would never be able to last at that rate. The only thing for me to do was to stop him down. I went out the next round and hit Le Roy right on the chin. He grinned at me sarcastic like and started giving me the finest pasting you could imagine. From then on we battled."

"The crowd went wild. They left the building well satisfied they had seen a fight. And they had. Little did they realize they had seen a fighter lick his own manager. Is it any wonder I don't believe in exhibitions. When a fellow gets hit it is instinct to fight back."

Fights His Host

Another instance of an exhibition that turned into a knockout happened here in Los Angeles very recently. A fighter came to town so lean he didn't have a place to sleep. Another boxer played the part of the Good Samaritan, took him in, gave him clothes, fed him, shared his bed.

The Good Samaritan fighter was notified he was to box at one of the local clubs. He didn't bother to ask who his opponent was. When he went to weigh in he learned that his roommate was to be his opponent. That was a strange situation—no fault of either boxer.

They got in the ring. The Good Samaritan was going along, boxing his roommate. The roommate came to his corner crying. The next round the roommate let one go. It knocked the Good Samaritan, his host, clear across the ring. He was hurt so badly the sponge came in.

Both fighters cried in the dressing room and helped dress each other's wounds. But who can say they didn't level? These two roommates?

Is there such a thing as an exhibition?

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS

COAST LEAGUE

AMERICAN LEAGUE
Chicago, 9; New York, 2; Cleveland, 7; Washington, 5. Only games scheduled.

HURRAY FOR GIANTS

With Frisch back in the lineup the Giants stepped out to a 4 to 3 decision over the Reds, Scott outpitching Luque.

BASEBALL

Featured by home runs of Frank Brazil in both games, the Angels, divided honors with the Seattle Indians at Washington park yesterday, 5-2 and 13-2 with a rubber tilt today to decide the series.

Vernon lost both games at Sacramento, while the Seals lost and won at Portland. Salt Lake grabbed both tilts from Oakland and bid fair to give San Francisco a race for the title. It is admitted that Los Angeles and Seattle now have little chance of overcoming the Seals' lead of fifty-three wins and twenty-one defeats.

The Shell Oil crew took a fifty-fifty split over the week-end, losing to the Gilmores, 11 to 3, on Saturday, and beating the Irvine team, 5 to 0, yesterday.

The Crown City team dropped a close game to the Kant Score crew yesterday at Tournament park, 8 to 6, when Nolan held the Pasadena players to eight hits while his teammates were gathering fourteen off Gomes.

DeHog of the Technical Glass Co. team fanned twenty men yesterday in a game against the E. A. Featherstone crew, and his team won, 8 to 2.

Manager Kenely fanned sixteen and allowed only six hits, thus the Bell Merchants beat the Washington Street Merchants, 17 to 2.

Harold Thompson In Semi-Finals Of Meet

Harold Thompson, youthful Oakmont Country club golfer, and runner-up last year in the City golf tournament, is expected to become city champion this year, following his victory yesterday over Bobby Ross, former state junior champion, 4 and 3 on the Warren G. Harding Memorial course at Griffith park.

Thompson will meet Lee Pendergrass, who beat F. W. Lampton, 3 and 2, in the semi-finals during the week, and the winner of the match between Earl Neitzel, 2 and 1. The semi-final matches will be thirty-six holes.

Open Golf Tournament Over Tacoma Course

TACOMA, Wash., June 22.—The fight for the Pacific northwest amateur golf championship opened here today over the Tacoma country and golf club with about three dozen golfers swinging clubs in the qualifying round of thirty-six holes. Thirty-two will qualify.

Dr. O. F. Willing, Portland amateur, and Walker cup player, is here to defend his title, won last year at Vancouver, B. C., in a thrilling match with Willie Hunter. His main competitors this year are expected to be Chandler Egan, Medford, Ore.; Frank Dolp, Portland, and a flock of Washington state golfers including Ben Stein, Lee Stell, Dixie Fleager, Harry Hielt, Walter Fougare, Harold Niemeier, Forest Watson, Bill Noonan and Chuck Hunter.

PFAHLER SIGNS UP

Fred Pfahler, who played second base for the old Glendale White Sox last season, and tried out with the Vernon Tigers, has signed a contract with the Seattle team of the Pacific Coast league. Pfahler will join the Indians in August.

HENNESSY WINS

WIMBLEDON, England, June 22.—John Hennessy of Indianapolis won first honors for the United States in the all-England tennis matches today by defeating Vanderteen of Holland, 6-3, 4-6, 6-1, 6-2. Cochet of France defeated Grotory of England, 6-4, 6-2, 6-0.

KNOCKOUT DUO TO MEET AT VERNON

Irresistible Force To Meet Immovable Body In Card Planned By Doyle

VERNON CARD, TUESDAY NIGHT, JUNE 23
Russie Le Roy vs. Mushy Callahan, 140 pounds, ten rounds.
Billy Petrolle vs. Frankie Fink, 128 pounds, six rounds.

Jack Lee vs. Paul Duarte, 170 pounds, six rounds.
Don Levy vs. Jackie Sherman, 120 pounds, four rounds.
Jimmy Deering vs. Jack McDonald, 147 pounds, four rounds.

Jack Doyle, the showman of Vernon, will exhibit the boy from North Dakota who holds two newspaper decisions over Ace Hudkins, Tuesday night.

He is Russie Le Roy, from Fargo. Mushy Callahan is his opponent.

Le Roy knocked out Navy Rostan, Johnny Tillman and Mel Coogan in a row shortly after his last Hudkins fight.

This fact coupled with knocking Hudkins down four times in the two fights—shows that he can punch.

"If Le Roy can induce Callahan to slug with him at any time during the ten rounds, he will knock the Los Angeles boy out," says Jack Hurley, manager of the Fargo fighter.

May Try Boxing

Callahan will likely try to box the newcomer, in reverence to his punch.

Mushy has never failed to put an opponent on the floor, excepting Dode Berot—and he had Berot out on his feet several times during their recent battle.

Callahan took nine out of the ten rounds from Berot.

Le Roy's stablemate, Billy Petrolle, comes as highly recommended as himself. Petrolle has had thirty-seven knockouts in fifty-six fights. He is a 19-year-old Italian boy.

Petrolle's opponent, Frankie Fink, has just beaten Tufty Wing, the San Francisco favorite. Fink has won his last eight fights on the coast and he has never lost a decision out this way.

Several of his battles have been called draws.

Manager Confident

Hurley, manager of Le Roy and Petrolle, says that he believes Le Roy can beat Hudkins any time they start, and that he thinks Petrolle would knock Ace out.

That is very strong verbal gunpowder to Los Angeles fans, who have seen Hudkins during the last few months fighting like a champion—outside the Ascot bout with O'Brien, which wasn't so good.

Next week Tommy O'Brien and Phil Salvatore will box the ten-round main event at Doyle's.

RUTH TO FLORIDA

NEW YORK, June 22.—Babe Ruth will enjoy his annual hibernation next winter on the sun-kissed shores of Florida instead of the snow-covered plains of Sudbury, Mass. This home known today coincident with the big hitter's declaration that the life of a gentleman farmer was not for him and that he would take unto himself a winter home at St. Petersburg, Fla. The farm at Sudbury has been placed on sale.

AMERICANS WIN

WIMBLEDON, June 22.—Raymond Casey of San Francisco and John Hennessy of Indianapolis, American hopes in the all-England tennis tournament, came through their first round matches today in brilliant fashion. After Hennessy defeated Van De Feen of Holland, 6-3, 4-6, 6-1, 6-2, Casey won over another Hollander, Bryan, 6-3, 2-6, 6-0, 6-3.

SPORTING WAR ON

PARIS, June 22.—A French boycott of American athletics and a sporting war between France and the United States were threatened today as a result of an attack in Excelsior on American "discourtesy" in excluding France from the Wightman cup tennis matches.

Moving picture film sent from this to other countries in the last year would circle the earth nearly seven times.

LEGION PLAYERS TURN IN VICTORY

Defeat Ross Snyder A. C. In Los Angeles, 9 to 4, As Johnson Pitches

The Glendale Legion, putting in the field for the first time its regular lineup, found easy sailing against the fast going Ross-Snyder Athletic club on the thirty-eight street grounds yesterday, turning the Athletics back for a 9 to 4 count. The defeat was the first setback for the Athletics in the last 17 urteen starts.

"Chief" Johnson, doing the mound work for the legion boys, proved to be the star performer of the afternoon. The big legion twirler fanned ten in seven innings, easing up in the last two frames with the game safely tucked away.

Besides turning in a fine brand of pitching the big fellow contributed three hefty swats, dividing hitting honors with Catcher Thomas, the latter driving a homer out of the park with two resting on the sacks in the fourth. Thomas handled Johnson's shoots in a heady manner. Frank Acost, and "Chuck" Flanders pulled off some fancy fielding around second and third, with a pair of doubles at bat as an added attraction.

For the Athletics, Brady's hitting and pegging to the bases featured. The legionnaires are billed for Long Beach next Sunday.

The score: Glendale Legion 220 202 200 9 12 1; Ross-Snyder Athletic 100 092 092 4 10 4.

Johnson and Thomas; Jones and Brady.

FRY'S PHYSICAL FACTS

By PROF. BYRON G. FRY, Health Expert and Champion Bag Puncher of America. Written For The Evening News

LI—Danish Experiment

There was a war in Europe and 3,000,000 Danish people were bottled up, along with Germany by the blockade. They would have fared as miserably and died as wretchedly as did the non-combatants of the other blockaded nations, if it had not been for one great and learned man, Dr. M. Hindhede of Copenhagen, the most rapid food crank in all the official world.

When we had Hoover begging us to eat more denatured corn bread, so that the soldiers and the French could have more denatured white flour wheat bread, the Danes had Hindhede, who rationed his little nation on what there was and not only saved his people but also saved from war shortages, but saved lives lost always in peace times from food abundance.

The Danes are a cow-keeping people and also great bacon growers, and the powers that be in wartime allowed them not only the limited human food supplies, but certain feed supplies for their livestock.

Hindhede ordained that the pigs should die and the cows have part of the pigs' feed and the humans have part of the cows' feed.

Other countries were debating whether their bread grains should be milled to yield 70, 80 or 90 percent of bolted flour. Hindhede didn't argue about the percentage, but made it 100 percent whole grain rye flour and added all their allotted stock of wheat bran to the 100 percent rye flour and then added 24 percent of barley meal with only the fibrous hull, not the bran, but the hull that is thrashed off, taken out.

This super-whole grain mixture, more branny than whole wheat, was the Danish bread of the war nation, and by this bold stroke they practically doubled their bread supply and kept from starvation the most completely blockaded of any war bound land. Tomorrow—other features.

BURBANK WINS AGAIN

Burbank made it seventeen straight yesterday by defeating the Sonora Tigers, 4 to 2, at Burbank. "Scapy" Reed took care of the mound work for the winners, turning in twelve strikeouts.

Attending the camp were the following Glendale scouts, troop 8, seven boys and one scoutmaster; troop 14, three boys and two scoutmasters; troop 4, four boys and one scoutmaster; troop 2, four boys and one scoutmaster; troop 5, eight boys and one scoutmaster; troop 3, twelve boys, one scoutmaster and one troop committeeman.

STATE JOBS BESTOWED

SACRAMENTO, June 22.—Governor Richardson has appointed Frank F. Atkinson, a Sacramento attorney, as a member of the governing board of the state veterans' home at Yountville to succeed Harry E. Spens, of San Francisco, whose term expired. The governor also re-appointed E. L. Hawk, G. A. R. veteran of Sacramento, and E. B. Himman of Redwood City, to the board.

JOHN B. FOSTER'S VIEWS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News. Copyright, 1925. NEW YORK, June 22.—The announcement of Wilbert Robinson, manager and president of the Brooklyn Nationals, that he will return to the player's bench and be field manager as well as general-boss-in-chief, has been received in Brooklyn with tremendous enthusiasm.

The fans had begun to write letters imploring that he take his old place and there were some persons connected with the playing and business affairs of the club who had begun to fear that the veteran "Robbie" has made a mistake.

This was due, in large part, to the results of the Brooklyn club's western trip. This has not been a disastrous trip, because the club has been a fifty-fifty winner. But the fans have worked themselves up to a place where they threatened Pittsburgh, with a hint of later challenging the hated Giants, and the fans wanted them to go through with it.

Robbie turned the club over to Wheat with the idea of getting some one else broken in to keep his place in case of an emergency, but Robbie can't stay away from the bench.

"I've been too many years on the bench ever to get accustomed to the stands," is the message he sends the Brooklyn fans. "Wheat will be manager, but I will go back where I will feel at home."

Under the league rules, Wheat may be assistant manager, but Robbie will have to retain the official managership to keep his seat on the bench. No one can on the field except players and managers.

There is still a company of well known business men in New York ready to take up the club if the present owners wish to sell, and it is possible that this may have something to do with the present managers change of heart, as a run of poor luck might cause the stockholders to decide to put the club in other hands.

On the present trip west, the Brooklyn were successful against Chicago, where they won three games out of four. They lost three out of four to St. Louis and repeated in Cincinnati. This left them with one more defeat charged against them than when they left home and immediately a great roar went up in the Borough of Churches, baby carriages and rabid baseball partisans.

The fans threatened to take Robbie by the scuff of his neck and put him back on the manager's bench, but now that he has voluntarily taken up his old job they will be happy again.

The sale of Everett Scott, of the New York Yanks to Washington was something of a surprise but it was the culmination of Clark Griffith's announcement that the work of McNally was not satisfactory. Nally had been engaged as substitute infielder for the Senators, who needed a man to take Peckinpaugh's place if the old charley horse that has made life miserable for him had come back again.

In many ways the acquisition of Scott is a fine move, for Washington. He is far from being as slow as some think, and he will play short, with Stanley Harris to help him on the other side, in a manner which will uphold the interests of the champions.

Scott is one of those players who has brought luck to every team he has been connected with, and it may be that his transfer to Washington will be the move that will hold the Senators in the race and enable them to retain their pennant for another year.

TODAY'S GAMES

COAST LEAGUE
Chicago at New York, 2; St. Louis at Philadelphia, 2; Detroit at Boston, 2; Cleveland at Washington, 2.

NATIONAL LEAGUE
No games scheduled.

JOHNSON ROUTED

Speaker's double in the seventh drove Walter Johnson to cover and won the game, and Speaker's catch with two on in the ninth saved it, the Indians scalping the Senators, 7 to 5.

LETTER CARRIERS LOSE TO CLERKS

Coogan Too Hard To Solve And Locals Shut Out In Sunday Game

The Glendale Letter Carriers found Coogan too hard to solve in their game yesterday with the Los Angeles Postoffice Clerks, and the local mailmen returned home last night after being beaten 4 to 0 at Thirty-eighth and Ascot streets.

Richards pitched two innings against the Los Angeles aggregation, with Bush taking up the burden and finishing the game. The clerks gathered three runs in the first inning and added another tally in the seventh. The box score:

MARRIAGE IS LAMBASTED AS PASSE

Woman Doctor Amazes Her Hearers in Women's Party By View of Matrimony

By EDNA MARSHALL
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.
NEW YORK, June 22.—Dr. Margaret Daniels' theories on the futility of marriage, with which she startled the mid-western conference of the National Woman's Party at Detroit, are based entirely on an outside observation, her friends here declared today. She herself has never tested the bonds of matrimony.

They admit that in her practice as a psychoanalyst she doubtless has run across many couples who never should have married. Even her staunchest supporters are wondering if she didn't go too far when she quoted as saying: "Marriage and home should be abolished; mating should be free and children reared by the state."

"It is true," one of her greatest admirers said Tuesday, "that if marriage were abolished, there would be no unhappy marriages, and if men and women had no responsibilities to loved ones, or a home, they would be free to do their work of the world."

Not Made That Way
"But how many men and women are there who want to be free of love bonds, who don't want any ties that speak of home and rest and affection to hold them? Dr. Daniels sees clearly enough. That might work out in theory. But people just aren't made that way."

A slight dark-haired woman, some 35 years old, Dr. Daniels, she is very intense, will go to almost any end to help a cause in which she believes and her chief tenet for years has been the equality of women with men and the need for their independence.

Taught in Chicago
Only recently she was an instructor in the University of Chicago from which she took her degree as doctor of philosophy. Since she came to New York she has acquired a large clientele as a psychoanalyst. A few months back she espoused the cause of the women's party which maintains just one plank—equality—and since has thrown her heart and soul into the work.

On June 17 she will sail for Europe to study for the summer under Dr. Sigmund Freud, professor of neurology at Vienna University.

And there may lie the secret. As one woman said, "It may be too much Freud. She may be taking Freud and his individualistic doctrines too seriously. What she says is true, all right, only put into effect it would make a ghastly world."

Community Life
And still there have been others who have said as Dr. Daniels is said to have remarked in Detroit: "Community life is supplanting the home life today. Fathers and mothers, daughters and sons, all have their own interests, their clubs and societies. The movies and automobiles are taking people out of the home. So why not face the facts? The old-fashioned home has almost vanished. Community homes and community kitchens would save a woman labor, enable her to live her own life and free her from bondage. The state would care for the children. A society in which men and women would mate freely and in which women would be economically independent, would be healthy."

The question is, is it true?

STRIP OF LAND IS NAMED IN PETITION

Want Small Area Excluded From Incorporation Election, Report

A petition to exclude a small strip of territory from the incorporation election to be called in the Casa Verdugo district by the Los Angeles county Board of Supervisors will be filed with that body within the next few days by a number of property owners located between the Wash and the Glendale city limits, it was revealed today.

Protesting property owners on the south side of the Wash in Casa Verdugo will contend in their petition to the board that they are isolated to some extent from the proposed city of Casa Verdugo, and that their property values are based on Glendale city values.

The petition can be allowed by merely changing the election boundaries, it is said. In the event the petition is granted and the Casa Verdugo incorporation election carries, owners of the small strip of land south of the Wash will ask to be annexed to Glendale, it is understood.

Petition for incorporation of Casa Verdugo as a city of the sixth class was to be acted upon by the Board of Supervisors at a session this afternoon. Hearings scheduled before the board this morning, was continued at that time until 2 p. m. The petition filed recently was signed by Elmer E. Dana and forty-seven others. One additional name was stricken off because of apparent lack of residence. Date for the incorporation election will probably be fixed at this afternoon's meeting.

J. E. Rockhold, county surveyor, approved the description of the territory involved in the incorporation proceedings on June 1, and other formalities, such as publication of notice of hearing in the county official paper, has been completed.

Ex-Mayor Leads Hunt For Editor's Assassin

KELSO, Wash., June 22.—"Dover was killed because he knew too much." Acting on this theory, friends of Thomas Dover, editor of a Coville county newspaper, who was found here last Friday night with a bullet through his neck, were at work today in hunting down the assassin they insist sent the "fighting publisher" to his grave.

A Ruric Todd, recalled mayor, who was championed by Dover, is back in Kelso to lead his followers in a new fight to find the man who shot down Dover. Meanwhile the county commissioners, at the request of Sheriff Clarke Studebaker, have employed Luke May, Seattle criminologist, to take charge of the entire investigation.

Amundsen Anxious To Fly Own Plane Back

OSLO, June 22.—Captain Roald Amundsen wants to fly back from Kings Bay to Norway, but his friends try to persuade him not to take the chance. It was learned today. The airplanes in which the explorer and his party flew to the polar ice capital have arrived at Kings bay and are being overhauled. After the severe strain the explorer and his ship have been under, his friends believe it would be a needless risk for him to attempt the flight back. Amundsen probably will not return to Norway before July 1. While mechanics are going over the surviving airplane of the two in which Amundsen, Lieutenant Ellsworth of Ohio and their four companions started the flight, Amundsen is busy writing his account of the polar air voyage.

Couldn't Coax 'Red' Grange

Even the prospect of having pretty VIRGINIA VALLI for a leading lady doesn't make the movies attractive to "RED" GRANGE, famous All-American football star. He's going to deliver ice in Wheaton, Ill., this summer instead of starring in films at a fat salary. Virginia showed "Red" how he'd look made-up for the screen when he met producers for a conference and rejected their offers.

Last Rites Held For Senator La Follette

MADISON, Wis., June 22.—In the subdued, soft light of the great rotunda of the Wisconsin state capitol, set high on a hill overlooking four deep blue lakes, the last rites were held today for Senator Robert M. La Follette. As he had wished and in striking conformity with the unostentatious life he had lived, the services were simple and brief. The singing of "America" were the only outward rites. But unspoken the reverence and homage of a vast commonwealth was for him who lay peacefully amid the silken folds of the gray, flag-draped coffin that is to be his eternal bed.

MEXICO TRADE AFFECTED BY U. S. NOTES

Business Men Of Country Feel Outcome Will Not Be Of Much Import

By J. C. ROYLE
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.
NEW YORK, June 22.—Trade with Mexico undoubtedly will be affected by the interchange of statements that has taken place between Secretary of State Kellogg and President Calles. Men intimately associated with the Mexican situation, believe, however, that the check to commerce will affect only a comparatively few lines of business in scattered sections of the country, although those Americans who have made investments south of the Rio Grande find little comfort in the situation.

Even if affairs do not take a turn for the better in the southern republic, these men profess the belief that action by the United States would hardly go farther than withdrawal of recognition of the Calles government.

British Displeased
It is pointed out that Great Britain has never accorded recognition to that government, largely because of the seizure of the Evans hacienda, a property owned by British subjects in Puebla. Yet British trade with Mexico continues and recognition does not seem, according to Secretary Kellogg's statement, to have prevented similar occurrences in the case of American property.

Trade went on to some extent at least for a long period before recognition was accorded by the Harding administration. In late months it has been brisk, especially out of New Orleans. It should not be forgotten, however, that Mexico is not dependent on American goods. Her difficulties in the way of being entirely self supporting are concerned almost entirely with transporting her products to various points within the country itself.

Trade Not Needed
It is equally true that the United States is not dependent on Mexico for materials. Sisal is extensively used in this country for manufacture of binder twine, but most of the supply for the present harvest already has been provided. American mine owners would willingly see Mexican lead, silver and copper withdrawn from American or world markets, since domestic producers are curtailing their own production of most of these metals.

Mexico has huge oil supplies and exported 10,254,000 barrels last month but the production of crude oil in this country broke all records for the last week in May and wells in this country are now flowing at the rate of over 2,800,000 barrels a day. Those companies which are not interested in Mexican, undoubtedly would feel no keen regret if the Mexican output were temporarily curtailed.

The cotton grown in Mexico, whence came the boll weevil, is largely consumed within that country. The sugar production of Mexico has never recovered from the effects of the revolutions of the last fifteen years and only a small quantity comes into the western section of this country. With the present large world crop, the Mexican output is negligible. Many Mexican fruits are shipped from American markets by quarantines and the livestock industry of North Mexico has not recovered from the results of years of war and raiding.

Mexico, therefore, in the opinion of experts, is in the position of a customer for American manufactured goods. She can be a good customer and undoubtedly will be one in time, but many American exporters feel that the temporary loss of a customer who is dilatory about complying with obligations as the Kellogg statement infers, is not a terrific blow to their commerce.

Riff Coast Blockade Is Declared Useless

MADRID, June 22.—The Franco-Spanish blockade of the Rifian coast to prevent smuggling of arms to the tribesmen led by Abdel Krim will be unavailing. Tangier is the point which must be watched if the movements of contraband are to be stopped.

This was the view of the situation taken today by a Spanish military authority closely associated with the directory. "The Rif coast blockade" will not prevent arms smuggling, this official declared. "Contraband is not carried through along the coast where there is no good port. Tangier is the point of entry. Without closely watching Tangier, all other decisions of the French and Spanish and all other actions will not succeed."

Stockton Boy Drowns Trying To Save Pair

PREPARE SITE FOR NEW BUILDING

Officials Order Bungalow On Lot Removed; Plans On Way to New York

In anticipation of their building program which will commence as soon as plans and specifications are completed by the architects, Y. M. C. A. officials today ordered their building site at Louise street and Wilson avenue, cleared and the duplex bungalow that occupies part of the property removed. Laborers started work immediately.

With but a few details remaining to be worked out, C. L. Jay, architect, will have plans for the new "Y" building completed shortly. One set of plans, complete excepting for details, are already on their way to the national building bureau of the Y. M. C. A. at New York City for approval. President G. D. McDill said work on the building will be rushed in order to complete the structure as soon as possible.

A call for more Glendale men to accompany 125 boys of the city to the Y. M. C. A. summer camp at Catalina commencing July 15 and lasting for 11 days, was issued today by Rex C. Kelley, secretary of the Y.

Many Boys Going
More than the maximum quota of boys has already been enrolled for the summer camp, Secretary Kelley said, although he is still taking applications. All boys wishing to attend the camp should apply at the Y. M. C. A. headquarters in the Security building at once, he added.

A number of Glendale men have already volunteered to act as leaders and take charge of groups of boys during the camp. Seven more men are needed, however, Secretary Kelley announced.

Rev. H. O. Simmons, of the Burbank Methodist church, will act as chaplain during the camp period. Warren Slate of Pasadena will be in charge of athletic activities. Glendians who will accompany the trip include Everett Anderson, G. E. Murphy, H. L. Butterfield, S. M. Bernard, Curtis Elliott, C. L. Brost, R. A. Rathbun, O. F. Walton and William Rich.

Man Is Bride, Girl Is Groom, At Wedding

The Emerson Dramatic club acted as hosts at an outing given for the students, parents, teachers and friends of the Emerson School of Self-Expression Saturday afternoon at Brookside park. George Grist, chairman of the entertainment committee, had arranged some new and original outdoor games for the children which proved to be a huge success. At 6 o'clock a delicious picnic lunch in charge of Mrs. C. Uhlenbrock, was served and was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

Following this the guests were escorted to the open-air theatre where two special features were arranged for their entertainment. A pageant entitled "A Wedding Procession in the Topsy-Turvy Land of Jazzmania" was given by the junior department. Winners of the popularity contest were chosen as the bride and groom. Howard Blake taking the part of the bride and Marjorie Osborne, the groom. The Emerson Dramatic club then presented the clever one-act play "Frank Glinn's Wife," which concluded the entertainment. The club wishes to thank the Brookside Nurseries for furnishing a truck in which the children were conveyed to the park.

They will be asked to turn in membership slips. In order to counteract a misleading rumor about club subscribers, Mrs. Jones states that anyone desiring to subscribe for a $5 season ticket can do so by making a deposit of $1 until September 1. Anyone who subscribes after October 1 will be obliged to pay $3 enrollment fee. She adds that the purchase of a season ticket does not make one a member of the club. Tonight, Spencer Robinson, former Glendale mayor, and noted for his splendid voice, will delight the audience with two selections, "An Irish Lullaby" (Bartlett) and "Mother of Mine" (Tours). Mrs. Robinson will accompany.

Artists who have been secured by Mrs. Virginia Freeman include Myron Carman, baritone, who will sing two songs, accompanied by Mrs. Carman; Miss Isabel Yates, accompanied by Mrs. Yates, who will give two soprano solos, and Mrs. Eustace Moore, who will give several readings, in addition to her vocal selections.

Mrs. Alice Clayton, chairman of the tea room committee, announces that the following musical talent has been secured for the week: Tuesday, Oma Baffelt, coloratura soprano, and well-known Los Angeles light opera singer, will be the soloist. Wednesday, Nell Dunbar, famous stage favorite, in private life Mrs. John Ward, will be the principal entertainer on the program. Mrs. Ward, now retired from the stage, where she won an enviable reputation as a singer and comedienne, is a resident of Hollywood. Friday, A. Another work which will be done in conjunction with the exposition this week will be the forwarding of bonus applications by the American Legion. This work will be attended to at the Legion booth.

Charioteer Brigade To Be Here All Week

A most successful series of meetings was held over the week-end at the Salvation Army hall. Colonel and Mrs. Turner from San Francisco, Colonel and Mrs. Boyd from Los Angeles and many other prominent officers were present and took part. The visiting group of young men called the "Charioteer Brigade" were also present and contributed to the programs with their music and songs. The hall was well filled at every service.

The visit of the "Charioteer Brigade" to Glendale was an innovation, and everyone enjoyed the playing and singing by the boys. When they held the street meetings, crowds lined the sidewalk and took in the interesting meetings. As several of the citizens spoke so well of their enjoyment of the Brigade's efforts, all their program that was made up for some time in the future has been cancelled, and the Brigade will remain in Glendale for all of next week.

The Brigade, under the leadership of Commandant Barnes, an old-time Salvationist of the early days, will conduct meetings every night of the week in the local hall. The Commandant is a man imbued with the old-time spirit, and is a very forceful speaker and makes things interesting every minute of the meeting. The public is invited to attend all these services during the week.

Presbyterian Picnic Is Held On Saturday

Five hundred members of the Sunday school and congregation of Glendale Presbyterian church motored to Eagle Rock park Saturday afternoon for the annual picnic. Sports under the supervision of E. H. Holt, elder of the church, provided entertainment for all present. A picnic supper was served under the trees at 5:30 o'clock, with Mrs. Roy D. King in charge, assisted by other members of the church. W. H. Barnes, was chairman of the grounds committee and J. MacMillan was general chairman.

Jap Town Blotted Out In Raging Forest Fire

TOKIO, June 22.—A disastrous forest fire is sweeping the Lake Kushu district in the prefecture of Hokkaido. The village is reported to have been destroyed and latest dispatches received here stated several others were threatened.

Leading Role

MARIE JUNE JONES, who takes the feminine lead in 'Icebound,' the opening play of the Lexington Players tonight.

The Lexington Players will make their bow to Glendale tonight at the Playhouse on Central at Lexington. They are a Little theatre and offer "Icebound" by Owen Davis as their opening play. As an added attraction for tonight, the Egyptian Village has donated Len Nash and his Country Boys' orchestra and Ken Hamilton, popular concert and radio tenor, to open the program. Besides playing every night at the local cafe this orchestra and Mr. Hamilton are heard every week over KXN.

Hamilton was formally with the "Blossomtime" company in New York.

The Lexington Players intend to give to Glendale the highest type of entertainment possible and to bring out all the local talent they can. Anyone who wishes will be given a tryout on casting nights and the theatre is to be run on a non-profit basis. If more than expenses are made the remaining sum will be divided, a percentage going into a revolving fund for future productions and the rest will be divided evenly between all who have worked to make that particular production a success.

Actors Give Opinions

Various members of the cast of "Icebound" have voiced their opinions of the Little theatre movement. Roy Gordon, who is playing the leading role says:

"The whole theatrical world has been advanced by the Little theatre and an organization of this sort is of limitless value to any community."

"The Little theatre," says Marie June Jones, feminine lead, "brings to the public plays that otherwise might never be seen and, therefore, it should pay everyone to follow the Little, or Community theatre in their city."

Watch Movement

"Most communities as fast growing as Glendale are keeping their eyes on the Little theatre and supporting it as they realize the cultural power such an organization provides," says Marie Dyches.

"The Little theatre is a big thing and should be supported," claims Duane A. Young.

Tonight Glendale's own Little theatre will open its doors and give to this city something it really needs, something that will grow with Glendale.

Plan Fire Protection In La Crescenta Valley

Development of new sources of water supply and construction of a modern, comprehensive system of water distribution that will provide adequate fire protection and ample water for domestic purposes will be urged through the formation of a county water district at a meeting tonight of water users and property owners of the La Crescenta valley. The meeting has been called for 8 o'clock at the Verdugo City auditorium.

Plans that are contemplated call for the development of water sources that will provide for a population of 50,000 in the valley. Present mains in use at many important points, some of them not more than 3-4 inches for fire hydrants, would be replaced by adequate mains.

H. N. Fowler, president of the Verdugo City Association of Commerce, will preside at tonight's session.

Woman Painter Writes Poem To Fellow Artist

Laura Lee Sweet of Tujunga was the contributor of an especially interesting number on the program of original stunts at the "hi-jinks" party of the Glendale Art association of which she is an active member. She read an original poem, written to Emma Kraft, the portrait painter, and preceded the reading by telling an interesting story regarding the inspiration that led to its composition.

Mrs. Sweet is a leading member of the Tujunga Art association and a painter of the modern impressionist school. Emma Kraft, who was awarded the blue ribbon for a portrait in oils at the recent Elsteddoff, is also of Tujunga.

Try Long Distance Control Of Pictures With Buster Keaton At One End

By MARIAN MARSHALL For Southland News Service.

HOLLYWOOD, June 22.—Believe this or not, long distance radio to be an accomplished fact with the completion of scenes in "Go West," according to Lou Anger, general manager of Buster Keaton productions. He has completed arrangements whereby he will deliver a nightly report by radio to Buster, who is encamped with his company on a lonely ranch, sixty miles from Kingman, Ariz.

Although two light trucks have been sent to the ranch to act as couriers between the ranch and the town, neither telegraphic nor telephonic communication is possible without delays of from twelve to twenty-four hours.

In order to avoid this lapse of time in transmitting important communications, Anger yesterday chartered the services of a privately owned commercial radio station for one hour nightly, from 7 to 8 o'clock.

At the same time he purchased and shipped to Buster one of the most expensive radio receiving sets on the market, guaranteeing to receive messages from far distant points.

Nightly, Anger plans to broadcast his message to Buster, advising him of the condition of film shipped to Hollywood for developing and printing and making suggestions for the company's work.

"I should not be surprised to see commercial radio used extensively by motion picture people within a year," said Anger in commenting on his new move.

"Companies on location frequently get beyond the reach of telephone and telegraph, and all means of communication with the outside world is broken except for slow-moving trucks or pack trains."

Real Nobility Shown

Three real life representatives of foreign nobility are playing real life royalty in Constance Talmadge's new starring production, "Her Sister from Paris," it was learned yesterday.

An actor known to Hollywood as Mario Carillo is playing the king of a mythical empire. In real life, Carillo is the Count Mario Caraculio, scion of one of the oldest noble families of Italy.

Stella de Lanti is playing the queen. In real life, she is the Duchess de Lanti, and her family is of high noble rank in Italy. Their family home is at Venice.

The Comtesse d'Artigue, well known as a portrayer of screen roles, is playing the lady-in-waiting in Connie's new picture. She is of the old French nobility.

Pola Negri Back

After spending several weeks in New York, Pola Negri has returned to Hollywood, where she will begin work immediately on Joseph Hergesheimer's original story, "Flower of the Night."

Fifty bathing beauties, all of the swimming variety, have been added to the list of players appearing in "The Trouble With Wives" and today left with the other screen artists in this picture for Catalina Island. A week will be spent on the island filming one sequence of the story.

Every style of bathing suit, from the scant one-piece kind to the fancy innovations, will adorn the various girls. A particularly unusual bathing costume will be worn by Esther Ralston, one of the featured players, who attended Glendale High school until recently.

NEW BABY INDUSTRY

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 22.—An infant industry, meaning just that, is thriving in Indianapolis today.

A number of young women attending school here are making a paying business of watching infants while the parents stroll around downtown to become acquainted again with the bright lights.

The charge is 50 cents to $1 per infant per evening, dependent on the age of said infant and on the length of said evening. Twins, reduced rates; triplets—but they haven't been called on yet to watch 'em in overwhelming numbers.

CAPITAL FEARS JAPAN

MANILA, P. I., June 22.—Robert Dollar, American shipping man, head of the line bearing his name, arrived here on the President Lincoln, the first president boat from San Francisco under Dollar management. The veteran shipping man said American capitalists consider there is little opportunity in Japan now because of the anti-American feeling fostered by the immigration law and subsequent developments.

Glendale Wins Visitor, Oklahoman, As Citizen

The attractions of Glendale as a home city have won J. E. Ellsworth and family of 1134 East Doran street, formerly of El Reno, Okla. Mr. Ellsworth left Sunday for El Reno, where he will dispose of property holdings and arrange to bring his household goods to Glendale.

CLAIMS PLANETS ARE INHABITED

Astronomer Knox Speaks Of Other Worlds In Sunday Night Lecture

That there are other worlds than ours and that there is intelligent life everywhere throughout the universe is the assertion of Philip Knox, astronomer-evangelist, to prove which assertion he devoted the time of his lecture at the Knox tabernacle Sunday night. Much of the evidence on this subject he produced from the Bible, which he affirms is a textbook on astronomy not only in advance of any astronomical knowledge when the Bible was written, but even in advance of present-day textbooks on this science.

Proceeding to an examination of other planets, the speaker said: "Our world is only one of eight that revolve about the sun and one of the smallest at that. The great planet Jupiter is equal in size to 1,300 worlds such as ours. And there is Saturn, on which the Creator seems to have lavished his highest gifts. Saturn is seven hundred times the size of the earth. Can we suppose that such a globe is uninhabited? We cannot believe that these great worlds were created in vain.

Life on Mars
"Look at the planet Mars, with its network of markings which are spoken of as canals. We can actually see the vegetation on Mars. These 'canals' are not irregular, haphazard markings, but are laid out in an orderly way, indicating intelligence in their construction. Professor Lowell has written a book telling us why he is fully convinced after years of study and observation that Mars is inhabited; and Professor T. J. J. See makes the statement that 'It is almost certain that Mars is filled with the same forms of life as exist on the earth.'"

"The creation of the earth's atmosphere, we are told, occupied the second day of creation week. The planet Venus has an atmosphere, as can be plainly seen when Venus is in transit across the face of the sun. This atmosphere would be useless for any purpose but that of sustaining life. The moon was never intended to be inhabited, and it has no atmosphere."

Mr. Knox promises that at the lecture tonight he will tell of late astronomical discoveries which he says prove beyond the shadow of a doubt that the heavens are the work of a Creator. The musical program starts at 7:30 o'clock and the lecture at 8 o'clock.

AT VERDUGO CITY

VERDUGO CITY, June 22.—A meeting of intense interest to all water users of the valley will be held tonight at the Verdugo City auditorium when Harry Fowler will act as chairman. Reports will be heard from W. R. Scully, who with other members of the Crescenta Mutual Water Co. board of directors, visited Bell and Norwalk where they investigated the success of the county water district system.

Mr. Davidson, engineer for the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors, will go into the matter thoroughly and give all data needed for the forming of a district. The meeting will start promptly at 8 o'clock.

Verdugo City, which had been held up on account of changes in plans, will be resumed again this week. The building is to be erected on the southeast corner of Honolulu and Los Angeles avenues. When finished it will house the Fowler-Brough Chevrolet agency, and the Sears Roebuck shops and probably a dry goods store.

Mrs. D. Rose and little daughter, Virginia, are spending the week in Antelope Valley, the house guests of the Foyes at their ranch.

Rebekahs of the Verdugo Hills district will hold a meeting tonight in the Fowler building.

Sciot Leader Better After Minor Operation

FROM EAGLE ROCK

EAGLE ROCK, June 22.—Harold J. Stonier, of the University of California, delivered an address on "Government and Changing International Ideals" at a meeting of the Twentieth Century club held here.

The Pacific Business Men's club of Eagle Rock is circulating petitions in an effort to obtain from the City Council a license to operate pool tables. Efforts to obtain a permit for a private or public pool tables in this city so far have failed. There is opposition to the movement.

An attempt will be made to enforce deed restriction denying to Orientals the right to rent property in York valley. A meeting of the Occidental-York Valley Improvement association will be taken to bar all but members of the Caucasian race from the district.

Margorie A. Hunsinger, 5119 Caspar avenue, Eagle Rock, received the Bachelor of Arts degree at Ohio Wesleyan university on Wednesday. Bishop William F. Anderson, acting president of Boston university, delivered the graduation address.

By J. C. ROYLE
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.
NEW YORK, June 22.—The automobile industry ad itedly is one of the most accurate barometers of business in the United States. It reflects both the buying power and the buying urge of the public and its ramifications touch nearly every commodity produced or manufactured in the country.

The industry has been more active in the last month than at any time. Approximately 400,000 cars were turned out of the factories in May.

Moreover, sales have kept a excellent pace with production. There are no big stocks on hand. Dealers have been driving cars away from the factory as fast as they are assembled. The Ford output is being maintained and increased. The volume of production reached at the Hudson and Essex factories has permitted cuts in the prices of both cars recently.

Slow Up in Summer
The spring buying period has been running longer than usual, but there is evidence that makers will begin curtailment this month. Many expedients are being considered to maintain sales during the summer, but that period normally is one of slack business in automobiles and manufacturers are not likely to load themselves or their dealers up with cars which they cannot move.

Some easing of production schedules is therefore to be expected. Motor trucks have had one of the best years in history and the volume of sales is calculated to carry the total for the year above that of any other twelve-month despite the total for the year.

Automobile accessory manufacturers have done the large business of their history in late months and this activity promises to continue for three months at least. Demand for tires for original equipment and for replacement is very strong and the plants are working at top speed. Some check may be expected this month owing to the high cost of rubber and the difficulty of getting a good start but it is yet early to determine what further increases are to be expected.

Certain sections of the textile trade have benefited materially from the activity in automobile and tire manufacture, but the cotton mills are in anything but a satisfactory position. They are better placed than a year ago however. The number of spindles active has been high and efforts now are being made to cut output.

Big Cotton Yield
The condition of the cotton crop as revealed by government and private reports indicates the possibility of an extremely large production. The crop has gotten off to a good start but it is yet early to determine what production will be. The fact that some cotton mills are working full time and returning profits would indicate that some of the depression in the industry is due to failure properly to gauge public taste and demand.

STOCKS — FINANCIAL — MARKETS

SPECIAL SERVICE TO THE GLENDALE EVENING NEWS
International News Service, Consolidated Press Association, Southland News Service.

MARKET SUMMARY

LOS ANGELES, June 22.—Indicating recovery of the rubber industry, the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. announces that it will resume payment of 1% per cent quarterly dividends on preferred stock on July 15, stock of record June 20.

Extraordinary credit reserves in the United States have given good tone to market trading, despite many additions to the listed stocks and bonds which are carried with borrowed money, New York observers state.

Unsatisfactory conditions abroad, with England markets unsettled, and foreign trade irregular, added to the Chinese and Moroccan disturbances, while reflected on general trade, have not injured American business noticeably.

The Angels' Flight railway, operating on Bunker Hill, Los Angeles, reports to the railroad commission its 1924 operating revenues at $35,795.94, as compared with $39,779.94 for 1923. The operating expenses, excluding taxes, for 1924, are reported at $26,000.08, leaving net operating revenue of $9,795.86. During 1924 taxes charged to operation amounted to $3,965.76. Deducting the taxes leaves operating income of $5,829.10. Adding to the operating income, the non-operating income of the company results in a gross corporate income (which represents the amount available for interest, amortization of debt discount, other fixed charges, non-operating expenses, dividends and surpluses) of $5,829.10.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, June 22.—Grains turned easier in a slow session here today and closed lower. Wheat finished 1 1/4¢ off; corn closed 1 1/4¢ off; oats closed 1 1/4¢ off. Provisions closed steady to easier.

NEW YORK CLOSING

By W. S. COUSINS
For International News Service

NEW YORK, June 22.—Speculative interest was concentrated on a small number of stocks today, of which the "Dupont family" were the most important.

With Dupont directors more than fulfilling the expectations of the stock market in ordering a 40 per cent stock dividend instead of the 25 per cent most commonly talked of, the stock was in active demand most of the day.

As also was General Motors which was easily the most active stock in the whole market. General Motors reached $50 today, the highest in three years, and 10 points above the valuation accorded it on the books of the Dupont company.

Stocks of the industrial, equipment, oil and specialties companies were brought to market in good volume on profit-taking and prices of the main body of stocks were lower. The impression is quite widely entertained in the financial district that the professional traders who have been marking up the market for the last four or five weeks are now busily engaged in distributing them to the public, which is expected to "carry the bag" through the next decline in the market. Strength in some parts of the market is absolutely necessary to carry out this process successfully, and that appears to be furnished by the motor and a few of the pool specialty stocks.

Once again the market action of the oil stocks as in contrast to the latest development in the oil industry, including the decline in crude production and the evidence of a large increase in gasoline consumption.

The narrowing tendency of the market was more pronounced today than in the closing sessions of last week. Trading was confined to the motor, pipe, American oil of the industrial and specialties, with the bulk of the important railroad, public utility, equipment, steel, copper, shipping and industrial stocks hardly represented on the tape. Occasional spurts in Studebaker, White Motor, Pierce-Arrow in the motors and in the oil, Marland and Pan-American in the oil stocks were generally followed by reactions of equivalent proportions.

Demand continued for the tobacco stocks, with United Cigar Stores in the lead. American Tobacco and Tobacco Products also were in demand.

Texas Gulf Sulphur, Seagrave Co. and Bosch Magneto were among the buoyant specialties, while Cast Iron Pipe, American Can and other high-priced industrial were under attack most of the day, declining from 1 to 5 points.

There were no important changes in industrial and financial conditions. The recession in general business is light and money is in good supply for legitimate purposes. Call money ruled at 3 1/2 per cent, with outside offerings at lower rates. Commodity markets were steady.

The advance in call money rates to 4 per cent made little difference in the general character of the market. Motor stocks were firm and active until the close of the market. Oil stocks, industrial and specialties continued the moderate downward movement which was in progress from the first hour. The general trend of the market was downward, with selling pressure not very pronounced.

Sales total, 1,135,500 shares; bonds, $10,518,000.

MONEY & EXCHANGE

City To Test Markers

As Aid To Motorists

Steel markers to replace painted lines at street intersections are being installed today at Broadway and Central avenue as a test by the Union Tank & Pipe Co., Los Angeles, with the approval of the city.

The markers are four-pronged, held securely in the pavement. Proponents claim for them that they eliminate expense with the exception of the first cost of installation. Four direction arrows and four words, "slow," are also being placed on each street. The work at Broadway and Central avenue is being done without cost to the city.

Tots Wander All Night Seeking Movie Career

The lure of the "westerns" called Edith Thomas, 11, and James Johnson, 8. Today, however, they are disillusioned. Their movie careers that they had hoped to build with Tom Mix are ended, at least temporarily.

The two children were found at 5 o'clock yesterday morning wandering aimlessly at Maryland avenue and Broadway by Police Sergeant Kerns. After reporting to the police station they were taken by Lieutenant Nunn and Patrolman Larson to their homes. Miss Thomas to 129 North Toluca street and the boy to 129 North Edgeware road, Los Angeles.

Wandering all night long in search of Mixville, on Glendale boulevard, the children lost their way. They were nearly exhausted when the police found them here.

Western costumes had been purchased for the children by their parents, who had been visiting together at the Thomas home on Saturday evening. The boy and girl, in hasty conference, decided to offer their services to Mix and creep away from the home while the older persons were conversing. Their absence went unnoticed until late at night.

Eisteddfod Events Are Here To Stay, He Says

Annual Eisteddfod events throughout Southern California were declared to be firmly rooted by state officers, who gathered with committee heads at Los Angeles Saturday to hear reports of the finals in music, art and drama, held recently in Glendale and Los Angeles, and to plan plans for next year's program.

The next Eisteddfod season will find more than double the number of communities participating, it was predicted by R. Ernest Tucker, director of municipal recreation in Glendale, who was one of the speakers Saturday. The success of this year's events will assure added interest next season, he said.

Committee heads were re-appointed to their positions at the meeting. J. Arthur Myers, director of the Glendale Municipal Symphony orchestra, will continue as head of the orchestra division. Mrs. Roy A. Balogh will remain as director of the art department. ## CHURCH HELP TO MASONRY, HE SAYS

Pastor Asserts They Stand Together on Big Basic
Lessons of Bible

"Temple Building" was the subject of the sermon delivered yesterday morning at First Congregational church by the pastor, Rev. C. M. Calderwood. Masons of Glendale were special guests at the service in observance of Saints' John Day. Rev. Calderwood took for his text, 1 Corinthians 3:16, "Know ye not that ye are the temple of God?" Rev. Calderwood said: "Brethren of the Ancient, Free and Accepted Masons, we are gathered here this morning to show to the world that not only as individuals, but also as a fraternity, we believe in the church, that for which it stands, what it does and what it teaches. But more than that, that we are here as a fraternity to unite with a church in its worship of the Supreme Architect of the Universe. "Ye are the temple of God."

Can any of us deny the dignity and worth of man when we are told that we are the temple of God? This statement is both a challenge and a responsibility. Then we are a medium of expression for the Almighty. There is something of the divine in every man. Our task is to find this and develop it. St. John also adds his testimony to that of St. Paul for he tells us that, "The tabernacle of God is with men."

Is Supreme Architect
"God is the Supreme Architect of this temple and we are his workmen carrying on his work and doing his bidding. We have banded ourselves together that we may better do his work. Good workmen are needed, for there is much careful work to be done. We are builders of the civilization which has much to do with our destinies and the destinies of those who are to follow us. We determine the social conditions under which we and others live. We have much to do with the shaping of the habits and customs of our race. But in addition to these things we are building our own and others' characters; we are building temples of God."

"It is here that Masonry and the Church stand together. The church should recognize the religious element in Masonry and Masons should never forget that it has been the church that has mothered them and preserved for them the religious teachings that are the basis and woof of their order. Masonry does not pretend to be a religion or a church. But there are certain universally acceptable religious principles among its teachings. The church and the Masons stand together on the importance of the development of a religious character as a temple of God."

Basic Teachings Known
"There may be secrets concerning the vows and the methods of work in Masonry, but there are no secrets about Masonry's fundamental teachings. In a time of great religious controversy when the great fundamentals of religion were neglected there was a great body of men who looked for a solid, broad, and free platform upon which they could stand. These men found an instrument agreeable to their convictions and purposes in the newly awakened Masonic fraternity."

"The temple of God cannot be built without brotherly love. The man who does not love and serve others loses his own soul. It is brotherly love and affection which unites us into one sacred band of friends and brothers. As cement is necessary to hold together the parts of a building, so brotherly love is necessary to bind mankind together for a common destiny. Buildings stand only so long as cement endures. Civilization will stand only so long as there is brotherly love. This is the teaching of God and Christ. It is well for both Church and Masonry to emphasize this."

'Slipping Feet' Topic at Bethel Chapel Service

"Slipping Feet" was the subject of the sermon delivered yesterday morning at Bethel chapel, 633 East Colorado street, by Rev. A. W. Frodsham, pastor.

CHURCH IS RATED GATE TO HEAVEN

Doors Of House Of Worship
Should Remain Open All
Summer, Says Speaker

Rev. George W. Thomas, pastor of Grand View Community church, preached yesterday morning on the subject, "The Gateway to Heaven Open All Summer." Rev. Thomas said in part:

"Billy Sunday, in speaking one time on the problems of vacation and summer for churches and Christian people, said he once saw a wonderful house of worship over whose arching portals were carved in stone the words 'The Gateway to Heaven.' But beneath across the arch was a sign on a board lettered with painful plainness: 'Closed for the Summer.'"

"Billy said it shocked him. It would shock anybody who cared about souls and destiny. It has a humorous side, of course, but the tragedy of it is that a great many people need to find that gateway every summer, and the way ought always to be open, all summer."

Summer Time Best
"I have suggested this motto for the Grand View church, because in a very peculiar sense the summer is the very easiest and most wonderful time to find God—and it's also the easiest time to forget or lose Him. The beauty and majesty of mountains and seas; the nearness of His presence in sunshine, flower, tree, stream and cloud; the intimacy of communion in shadowed retreats of quiet restfulness, the song and sweetness of his morning choirs, the hush of His evening hymns—these all make it so easy and so wonderful to find God anew. It is the summer season more joyous and fruitful, and build the power and poise for the year of work to follow. Jesus sought the mountains and sea for this very reason, and He is the great vacation Companion as He is the Redeemer of all life and labor. Whatever else you forget on your vacation, do not forget your Companion."

Share Others' Tasks
"And when you are at home and the rest of the church folk are away in their turn, do exactly what the members of any other going concern do in such a case. Take up the slack; share the other fellow's task, and count for two or three. Be present, be enthusiastic, be ready; keep the gateway to Heaven open all summer. No other business of importance closes for the summer. Neither should the church. Let us make this refreshing, building time in the church, on vacation, and everywhere else this year, and then make it a tradition in Grand View."

Must Keep Faith, Pastor Declares
Future of Man Is Lightened
By Course He Follows
Daily, Assertion

Rev. Henry O. Kringel of the Zion Lutheran church preached yesterday morning on the theme, "Keeping the Faith." In part Rev. Kringel said: "The great apostle Paul who penned these words, 'I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith,' was nearing his end. Yet a few more days and his head, which had grown silver with age and still more with labor, much suffering and care, would be snuffed off by the sword of the executioner."

"With most of us death is surrounded with great uncertainties. What day's sun will light us to our graves, what sickness will be commissioned to smite us low, where and under what circumstances we shall lie down and take our last breath, are particulars left for us in darkness. With the apostle, except a miracle be wrought in his behalf, there was not the smallest hope that he should escape out of the hands of that tyrant monster of cruelty, Emperor Nero, at whose tribunal he had been condemned in the city of Rome."

Cannot Ignore Reality
"Now there is something profoundly solemn in the spectacle of a person who is brought, sharply face to face with his departure from this world. He has a past; he has a future, how will he look at these? Whatever he may do, that past cannot be ignored; it follows him, and the survey of it is neither frowning or joyful. With the man who wrote the words of our text it was joyful. As he lay in his Roman dungeon knowing that the next time he passed through its heavy door it would be to martyrdom, and as his eye scanned in reminiscence the thirty years he had spent as ambassador of the Lord Jesus for whose cause he was now ready to be offered, thinking of himself as a wrestler in the arena of the world he said, 'I have fought a good fight,' again, thinking of himself as a racer, he remarks, 'I have finished my course,' and re-

HELP OTHERS, IS PLEA OF PASTOR

Story of Dives and Lazarus Quoted for Example of
Divine Attitude

Rev. Philip K. Kemp, rector of St. Mark's Episcopal church, preached yesterday morning on the subject, "The Parable of Dives and Lazarus." Rev. Kemp said:

"This parable is one that has been subject to various interpretations. It does indeed present to us a story involving contrasts: opulence and poverty, love for self and love for God, pleasure in this life and misery in the next. However we may look at it these contrasts loom upon the horizon."

"The greatest contrast is that which does not immediately appear, which is one that exists in all our lives between what we make of our life, and what we might make of it. Dives, the rich man, is the great example. Lazarus seems to be merely incidental, part of the scenery, we might call him. He is not represented as a reward of piety, but as the recipient of divine benevolence. Dives is on the other hand pictured in more detail. He is not made out a wicked man, but one leading the life of a selfish aristocrat. It is not even claimed that he was hard hearted for otherwise Lazarus would not have found his way there—he was selfish and indifferent to the suffering of others."

Stark Individualism
"His life was that which we find pictured about us constantly, that of a man who takes interest only in the narrow circle of his own life; anxious to enjoy life and to leave others alone. This is the gospel of a stark naked individualism that feels no burden of the world's cares upon his heart. A civilization based upon a life of material prosperity breeds many of that type, those who feel scant interest in the Lazarus lying at their gates full of sores."

"He gives, to be sure, of his overflow but seldom of his abundance. It is so easy to become unkind of others' needs. Yet in the gospel of Jesus Christ this is the unpardonable sin of selfishness. The vast gulf pictured in the parable between Dives' final resting place and that of Lazarus in Abraham's bosom is pictured. Jesus answers the query, 'Who is my neighbor?' by pointing to the Lazarus at the gates. Jesus is ever asking that we love our neighbor as ourselves, and feel it as part of our responsibility towards God."

Duty Was Forgotten
"Let us then remember Dives as one who in the whirl of selfish pleasure forgot God and his duty towards Him to help his neighbor. He found out later to his sorrow that ignorance is no excuse in the law of the spiritual life, but that we must be ever mindful of the kind of life we are leading. "Is it for self or is it for God? There is to be a day of reckoning for us in which this will count for or against us. As those who at least bear the name of the Lord Jesus Christ let us serve Him with a life brim full of the love that He Himself bore to His fellowman and love them as He has so abundantly loved us."

Gives Three Sermons
In Course Of One Day

Rev. O. B. Ong preached three sermons yesterday at First Church of the Nazarene, 417 East Acacia avenue. Evangelistic services began at the church last week and will continue each night this week at 7:30 o'clock. Rev. Joseph E. Bates, general missionary superintendent of Southern California, will preach at the service Wednesday night. Solo numbers will be given by Mrs. Woolam of Pasadena. The Young People's service last night was in charge of the new president, Paul Beck.

Think Before Acting,
Declaration of Swami

"Meditation and Action" was the subject of the service held yesterday afternoon at Ananda Ashrama. Swami Paramananda of India, founder and head, directed the service.

Unless the cork is attached to a string, a pop-gun must be discarded in England, according to a recent decision. guarding himself as a guardian, a custodian of the truth, he exclaims 'I have kept the faith.' "Christians have the same ground to stamp upon today. Happy the man who has kept the faith in Jesus Christ as His Lord and as the Savior who has redeemed him not with gold or silver but with His holy precious blood, in order that the believer might not perish but have eternal life."

SCORES HUNT FOR MERE POPULARITY

Lutheran Minister Says Too
Many Church People Are Holding Devil's Hand

"How May We Know That We are Saved?" was the subject of the sermon delivered yesterday morning at First Lutheran church by Dr. H. C. Funk, pastor. Dr. Funk declared that the answer to this great question may be found in the epistle lesson for the second Sunday after Trinity, "We know that we have passed from death unto life because we love the brethren."

Dr. Funk said: "These words are prefaced with the striking precaution, 'Marvel not, my brethren, if the world hate you.' There is no uncertain sound in the language of our lesson. The worst enemy the church has to meet today is the quibbling, quarreling and uncertainty in her own midst. But, alas! they hated my Saviour, too. Yes, the Pharisees hated Him, and they were leaders in the church. The Sadducees hated Him, and the world hated Him. Notwithstanding all that, the Pharisees, the Sadducees, and the world in all its wickedness as they mocked Him, spat in His face and nailed Him to the cruel tree; when we remember how they hated His disciples, all of whom died a martyr's death save one; when we learn how the early Christians were thrown into dungeons and left to starve, and their bodies left to decay; how since that time bodies have been thrust into boxes filled with sharp spikes to rend and tear the flesh until death came to relieve the suffering; I say, when we think of these awful things that were endured for Christ's sake, we certainly ought to be ashamed to complain."

Popularity Cheap
"The great danger of the world today is the constant desire to enjoy the favor of the world, seeking popularity. Was Christ popular? Were the Apostles popular? Not at all. Instead of the church making the world churchy, the world has succeeded in making too many of our churches worldly. And when the devil hears some preacher say: 'I have Mr. so-and-so on my church record,' he can say, 'I've got him on mine, too.'"

"We have too many people in our churches who want to keep on the good side of the world. But what is the truth? It is this: the world hates every true Christian. The same world that crucified Christ and killed the Apostles will also hate the Christian that dares to stand up and fight the world, the flesh and the devil. 'Marvel not, my brethren, if the world hate you.' 'Hereby perceive we the love of God, because he laid down His life for us; and we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren.' But what does all this mean? It means that although the world hates you and mistreats you, you must return good for evil."

Poverty to Honor
"But can we do that? We answer, Yes. By way of illustration, let me refer you to a small boy, 11 years of age, who left home because his widowed mother was not able to provide for him. He started with the determination not to do anything for anybody that was dishonorable. He finally began business for himself in the city of Baltimore, and grew to be worth $12,000,000. He went to London and there gave $3,000,000 to the poor."

"But when he died his body was brought back to America and laid to rest in a village where he was hated and despised, and from which he had been driven because he refused to sell tobacco to the small boys to teach them to smoke. That same town changed its name in honor of the man who is known on both sides of the sea as George Peabody."

"Glitter" shoes of nude and honey-colored satin trimmed with diamonds and with cross straps of diamonds, are popular in London.
